QUERIED ON MINK. Mrs. T. Lamar Caudle (above) refused to comment when reporters asked her in Washington about a mink coat she purchased at wholesale for $2,400. The coat was valued at $4,200. She is the wife of the assistant attorney general in the Department of Justice who was dismissed recently by President Truman.

31 In Tax Bureau Given Boot

Biggest Shakeup Since Beginning Of Investigation

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28—(AP)—The Truman administration today booted 31 officials and employes from its scandal-hit tax collecting organization.

Top official to get the axe was James G. Smyth, internal revenue collector at San Francisco. He was already under suspension.

It was the biggest single shake-up since an investigation by a House ways and means subcommittee turned up repeated indications of corruption or inefficiency in many spots in the federal tax collection service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 —(AP) — Further testimony by formed Assistant Attorney General T. Lamar Caudle in House hearings into tax fraud prosecution hinged today on the health of the ousted justice department official.

Gray and haggard, Caudle was excused midway through yesterday's hearings before a House Ways and Means Subcommittee. He complained of a "splitting headache"; his counsel earlier had denounced the examination as "inhuman."

Meanwhile, a treasury department agent assigned to "clean house" in the San Francisco Internal Revenue Bureau office announced there last night that 153 unused warrants against delinquent taxpayers had been found stuffed in a desk.

Charles F. Masarik Jr., deputy collector in charge of the Northern California tax office, also said auditing teams had found some nine million dollars in claims for withholding tax and old age retirement accounts for which collection was never pressed.

Masarik was transferred to San Francisco from Pittsburgh after San Francisco Collector James G. Smyth and six aides were suspended Sept. 27.

Never Notified

Masarik said "nothing has come to light" to indicate "anything out of line" in connection with the unused warrants, except that the taxpayers concerned were "never notified they would have to pay up."

In San Francisco the Chronicle reported these four officials suspended from the San Francisco bureau received word they have been fired.

Reports Good On Latest A-Bomb Tests

Chairman Says Weapons Proved "Very Useful"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28—(AP) — Chairman Gordon Dean of the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) said today the atomic weapons tests conducted recently in Nevada proved "very useful" in development of the nation's military might.

Dean's guarded statement to reporters was his first public comment on the latest series of tests, which he indicated has not been concluded. Six explosions have been conducted, in the series which started Oct. 22, ranging from what was apparently a baby A-bomb to mountain-shaking weapons.

The commission chairman was asked whether the tests so far had been generally satisfactory and whether they had advanced the building of this country's atomic arsenal.

"Let me put it this way," Dean replied. "I don't think there has been anything in the Nevada 'shots' (tests) that has ever displeased us."

Asked then whether he meant the commission was entirely satisfied with the outcome of the tests, Dean declared:

"Each time we learn something. They have been very useful."

He added that "one of the best things that has happened to us" was the creation of what he termed "the continental testing grounds" in Nevada. Most earlier tests were held in the Pacific at Bikini and Eniwetok.

Dean also was asked whether the latest series of Nevada tests had been completed.

He said that rather than answer directly, he preferred to say the commission would announce the conclusion of the tests—when the time comes.

Tito May Free Archbishop

BELGRADE Yugoslavia, Nov. 28 —(AP)—Roman Catholic Archbishop Aloysius Stepinac may be freed from his Yugoslav prison by Christmas, Premier Marshal Tito indicated last night.

The 53-year-old prelate was sentenced 5 years ago to a 16-year prison term after being convicted of wartime collaboration with the Germans.

11 Killed In Crash of Navy Patrol Plane

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Nov. 28—(AP) — A Navy PBM (Martin Mariner) seaplane plunged into the ocean seven miles west of here yesterday, carrying 11 airmen to their death. It was San Diego's worst military plane disaster in a decade.

In another southern California plane crash, a B-29 bomber burst into flames near March Air Base, but its 13-man crew parachuted to safety.

An eyewitness to the PBM crash said the plane, a two-engined craft, plunged straight downward, hitting the water with a terrific splash.

The Navy said the plane, attached to Fleet Air Wing 14, on a routine training flight from the San Diego Naval Air Station, broke into pieces when it struck. It did not burn, but soon sank. Cause of the crash was not immediately determined.

Three officers and eight enlisted men were aboard. Their names were withheld by the Navy pending notification of the next of kin.

"Strange Case of Gen. Willoughby"

General Was the One Who Failed, Says Boyle, Answering Criticism

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, Nov. 27—(AP)—Some Army officers retire gracefully.

Others retire like Maj. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby, former chief of intelligence for Gen. Douglas MacArthur. They carry their mental wounds back into civil life.

General Willoughby has a grudge. He is mad at a fair segment of the American press for the coverage of the Korean war.

Hal Boyle

Sheathing his sword and taking up his pen, he attacks six correspondents, including this writer, and three weekly news magazines in an article in the December issue of "Cosmopolitan."

His general charges against the newsmen are that we spread defeatism, "confused an unhappy public," and had "a marked tendency to smear Gen. MacArthur." He even goes so far as to assert:

"The nuance of defeat created an atmosphere of tension, uneasiness, and distrust between Tokyo and Washington. This is believed to have been the cause of the MacArthur-Truman split."

I do not know who believes this, unless it is Gen. Willoughby himself. And I don't even really believe he does, except on rainy days.

THE GENERAL ACCUSES the six war reporters of being "often inaccurate, biased, prejudiced, petulant . . . Their reporting furnished aid and comfort to the enemy."

Perhaps Willoughby, now being free of military duties, ought to get a job as a cub reporter on a newspaper and find out what the function of a free press is in a democracy. It is this: to find out the truth—and then print it.

The duty of a war reporter on the battlefield isn't to gloss over disaster or hide the mistakes of the top brass. It isn't his duty to burn incense before the altar of a two-star, self-inflating ego. It is his duty to find out what is happening in the war—and let the people back home know what is happening. That is what the soldiers themselves want him to do. His only restriction is this—never to write anything that will threaten the actual combat security of the troops.

My own feeling is that Gen. Willoughby has taken up a blunderbuss against the press to hide his own blunders.

IT WAS—IN the opinion of a number of trained war correspondents on the scene—the reporting of Gen. Willoughby himself that gave "aid and comfort to the enemy" and let down Gen. MacArthur.

As top intelligence officer it was his job to give MacArthur an estimate of the enemy's capability under any condition. In the case of the Chinese Reds the Tokyo headquarters intelligence staff dismally failed to do this.

The White House records of the Truman-MacArthur conference on Wake Island on Oct. 15, 1950, show that MacArthur was asked what the chances were of Chinese or Soviet interference in Korea.

And MacArthur was quoted in reply:

"Very little. . . . We are no longer fearful of their intervention. We no longer stand hat in hand.

"The Chinese have 300,000 men in Manchuria. Of these probably not more than 100,000 to 125,000 are distributed along the YALU river. Only 50,000 to 60,000 could be gotten across the Yalu river. They have no air force. Now that we have bases for our Air Force in Korea, if the Chinese tried to get down to Pyongyang there would be the greatest slaughter."

PRESUMABLY WILLOUGHBY supplied this estimate to his chief. That was his job.

Forty days later the U.N. launched its "win-the-war" offensive. On that day—Nov. 24—Tokyo headquarters intelligence still put the total Chinese and North Korean enemy in Korea at only 100,000 men.

It was an extremely costly miscalculation. Tremendous numbers of waiting Chinese Reds rose up, split the Allied drive and forced a long withdrawal.

On Dec. 2—eight days after the attack began — MacArthur estimated the enemy at 600,000 men,

Wants Method To Learn Exact Campaign Cost

Woman Senator Speaks Out On Taft-Ferguson Issue

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28—(AP) —Senator Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me) said today she strongly hopes the Senate elections subcommittee can find some way "really to get an idea of how much money goes into a campaign."

Mrs. Smith, the only woman senator, is a member of the subcommittee investigating the 1950 Ohio senatorial election. No contest is involved; the subcommittee is interested in the race as a basisi for possible new legislation.

The subcommittee's hearings continue today with Jacob Clayman, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio CIO political action committee, on the witness stand.

Joseph T. Ferguson, the Ohio Democratic senatorial nominee last year, testified yesterday that the forces which successfully backed Senator Taft (R-Ohio) out-spent him as much as 50 to one.

On Monday Taft had testified that labor organizations and others supporting Ferguson had a three-to-one margin in spending. Taft won the election by 431,000 votes, his biggest Ohio victory.

Makes Suggestion

Senator Smith told newsmen she felt one way to get at the problem of heavy spending was to require individuals and organizations to report to a federal agency all contributions to a campaign—either money or anything of value. She suggested that this might apply to gifts above $100.

Reds Reject U.N. Plan For Inspection

Also Refuse To Stop Troop Buildup During Armistice

MUNSAN, KOREA, Nov. 28—(AP)—Communist truce negotiators flatly refused today to ban military buildups in Korea during an armistice or to set up joint inspection teams to police the truce.

The Red stand led Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief negotiator for the United Nations command, to express suspicion the Reds might be planning to resume fighting after a temporary truce.

Joy told newsmen "the Communists came out in the open and said they were completely opposed to our principles" for inspection teams and guarantees against military buildups.

Bring Up Troop Withdrawal

"They brought up the question of withdrawal of foreign troops," Joy reported. "They said that with withdrawal of foreign troops" are problem "would be settled."

"You see what we are up against?" the admiral asked.

At Panmunjom truce negotiators spent most of Wednesday's session arguing over Allied demands that a truce agreement provide guarantees that military status quo be maintained.

North Korean Lt. Gen. Nam Il said the Reds "absolutely can not agree" that neither side increase its military forces or equipment.

"What is your objection?" Joy asked. "Is it that you intend to increase your military forces, equiment and supplies?"

Joy said if the Reds didn't change their position:

"I can only assume that you intend to build up your forces for resumption of your hostilities at some future time at your own choosing."

Want Guard Against Fighting

Joy explained: "We want to set up provisions so that hostilities can not break out again before the governments solve the fundamental Korean question."

Nam Il accused the Allies of seeking to "perpetuate an armistice" rather than solve the Korean problem.

"The withdrawal of all foreign forces is a necessary condition for a complete and peaceful settlement of the Korean question," the North Korean said. This is to be done at a higher level. Nam Il said that is where the buildup question should be settled, too.

Bomb Found In Columbus' Neil House

Discovered in Phone Booth of Hotel Picketed by Strikers

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 28—(AP) —Police today said a bomb was found in a telephone booth at the strike-hampered Neil House across the street from Ohio's capitol yesterday.

Safety Director Donald Cook withheld news of the find until today.

Detectives said the bomb, encased in galvanized pipe, was capable of causing heavy damage to the big downtown hotel.

About a foot of the bomb's 9-foot fuse burned before it fizzled out for some undetermined reason. The bomb was discovered by an unidentified man who went into the booth to use the telephone.

The bomb was in a small canvas bag. The unidentified man turned it over to the desk clerk who gave it to Det. Sgt. George Baker.

Police immediately ordered three detectives to watch the hotel.

The AFL Hotel and Restaurant Employes Bartenders Union Local 505 struck the Neil House

Soviet Hedges On Reply To Disarmament

PARIS, Nov. 28—(AP)—The western Big Three today formally accepted the Asian-Arab plan for private disarmament talks, but Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky dodged direct appeals to give the Russian answer.

With Western acceptance, the decision on the closed-door discussions lay squarely up to Russia.

Observers at the United Nations general assembly felt Vishinsky's refusal to give a straight answer meant the Kremlin has not made up its mind whether it wants to get down to brass tacks about ridding the world of growing arms programs.

Body of Soldier Killed in Korea To Arrive Thursday

Word has been received by the family that the body of Pvt. Joel Harold Buchanan, formerly of near Marion, will arrive here with escort Thursday afternoon by train to be taken to the M. H. Gunder and Sons Funeral Home on W. Center St. He was killed in Korea in July last year.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at the funeral home. Rev. M. E. Hollensen of Emanuel Lutheran Church will officiate. Burial will be in Marion Cemetery. Military rites will be conducted.

Pvt. Buchanan was a son of Mrs. Joe Buchanan of Lorain, formerly of Marion, and a sister, Mrs. Robert Severns, lives near Marion.

Train Cars Leave Rail; Only One Hurt

Seven Derailed, But Remain Upright Near Albany, N. Y.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 28—(AP) —The last seven cars of a 10-car New York Central express lurched from the rails at 75 miles an hour early today, but remained upright. Only one person—a crewman—was hurt.

The Easterner, bound from Cleveland to New York, was halted by automatic emergency brakes near Stuyvesant, Columbia County, 19 miles sotuh of Albany, at 1:30 a.m.

The cause was not determined immediately. A railroad official said the train aparently hit a defective rail.

The 86 passengers aboard—36 of them in the train's two sleepers—remained calm. One pullman passenger slept through the derailment. Outside, the temperature was 12 above.

The wreck blocked the Central's main line between Albany and Poughkeepsie. The line is double-tracked at the scene.

A brakeman, Joseph Cassese of the Bronx, suffered minor bruises when he reached for the emergency brake cord and was thrown against the wall of the last pullman.

Two sleepers, two coaches and three mail and baggage cars left the rails. The last car—a pullman—was yanked loose from its couplings, and skidded onto the northbound track. The others remained connected, only a few inches off the rails.

Anthony Piccano of Queens Village, L. I., a conductor, said: "It was a miracle nobody was killed or injured seriously."

Both Sides Quit Ground Fighting

GIs Ordered To Stand Ready Should Truce Negotiations Fail

SEOUL, Korea, Nov. 28—(AP) —Both sides in the Korean war quit the ground fighting today.

U. S. Eighth Army troops received an order to stop fighting and they did so immediately.

AP Correspondent Milo Farnell on the western front said he saw the order and that it came from U. S. Eighth Army headquarters.

The Army headquarters denied that it issued the order.

Farnell quoted a U. S. Third Division officer that Allied ground forces have stopped shooting at the communists "for all practical purposes."

The officer said an Eighth Army directive told all units on the front not to fire on Reds unless necessary.

"Watchful Waiting"

"We are not shooting at them unless they shoot at us," the officer said. "It will be a period of watchful waiting while we see how serious the communists are about our 30-day cease-fire proposal."

The provisional cease-fire line, agreed upon by U.N. and Red negotiators yesterday, is to become the cease-fire line only if negotiators reach a complete armistice by Dec. 27.

The officer said the Eighth Army order instructed all commanders to "maintain combat effectiveness" to be ready for an Allied offensive in case truce talks stumble.

The officer said all frontline units have been warned not to relax and that the war is not over.

"We are not allowed to send out any more than reconnaisance patrols," he said. "Their mission is just to scout, not to attack."

He said the order also prohibited offensive air strikes against Red positions on the front.

Counter Fire

The order restricted artillery to counter-battery fire.

"Our men in the companies have been told not to expose themselves unnecessarily," the officer said. "But they have orders to defend themselves against any Communist attack.

"We will be honorable about this affair," he said, "and we hope the Communists will act the same way."

The order said the Allies would hold down offensive action on the ground during the 30-day period to "clearly demonstrate the willingness to reach an agreement while preparing for offensive action if negotiations are unreasonably delayed."

The order instructed that present main lines "be defended to the maximum." This meant Allies could counterattack to regain any positions lost to the Reds.

There was nothing to indicate any slackening of jet warfare over northwest Korea.

Three Red MIG-15s and a U. S. F-86 Sabre were knocked out of the sky Wednesday in the second consecutive day of jet battles in MIG Alley.

No Cease-Fire

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters made no mention of a stop-shooting order to ground troops but it did issue a statement warning that "as of this date there is no cease-fire in Korea."

The ground war was so quiet that:

Chinese soldiers played volleyball along one stretch of the western front while Allied outposts looked on with interest.

For the first time the U. S. Eighth Army communique announced the exact hour of the few small actions that broke out along the 145-mile provisional cease-fire line.

"There is hope, but that hope must not be sabotaged by wishful thinking."

Apparently the Red and United Nations front line fighting men alike were enjoying the pause in battle that developed suddenly after the agreement on a pro-

County Treasurer Prepares List

Tax Bills Will Be Sent, May Be Paid by Mail

Marion County taxpayers now will be able to pay their next real estate taxes without visiting the office of the county treasurer, Marion Hinklin, treasurer reported today.

Hinklin said his office staff has prepared a mailing list of all property owners in the county. Statements of the taxes due on their properties will be mailed between Jan. 5 and 10. The tax books for the first half payments will be opened Jan. 10 and will close March 1. Books will be open from June 1 to July 20 for the second half payments.

The treasurer said more than 17,000 taxpayers were included on the county roles. They own approximately 25,000 parcels of real estate.

List Nearly Completed

The mailing list is nearly 90 per cent completed after more than three years' work by the office staff, Hinklin said. He said several previous county treasurers had started mailing lists but had never had time to complete them. Property transfers have made the job difficult, he said.

Mr. Hinklin said the new system had several advantages over the former plan, where all taxpayers had to visit the office.

In the future, tax payers will know in advance exactly how much their tax bills will be and may make their payments by mail or messenger. This plan, he said, would be a definite advantage to people living in the rural areas and not wanting to make a trip to the courthouse.

Statements may be kept from the first half payment to enable the payer to remember his bill

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Improving Circulation in Legs

Hardening of the arteries, or arteriosclerosis, most often affects the blood vessels of the legs. The results are pain and disability that are difficult to control.

An early sign that changes for the worse have occurred in the blood circulation, is severe pain when walking. As this condition grows still worse, the legs are painful even while resting. A change may also take place in the color of the skin of the toes, indicating that gangrene, or an area of dead tissue, may be developing.

Over a number of years, medical scientists have devised many different ways to restore circulation in the legs and relieve the painful symptoms. Sometimes effective is a suction boot, which alternately increases and reduces the air pressure on the legs. Special exercises to improve the circulation may also be of some help.

Recently, a new drug which relieves spasm has been used with success. This drug works through its effect on the nervous system. It blocks the nerves which control the blood vessels, relieving the tension of those vessels and thus improving the circulation.

Many times an operation, known as sympathectomy, gives fairly permanent relief by cutting the sympathetic nerve fibers. This operation is tolerated well, even though most of the patients are elderly and have certain complications, such as high blood pressure, diabetes, or coronary heart disease. However, this type of operation is not advisable in cases of gangrene.

Out of 100 patients having this type of operation, over 92 left the hospital highly improved. When these patients were examined 20 months later, 89 still showed definite improvement.

Slayer of Six Summoned For Sentence

Desperado, Already Serving 300 Years, May Get Gas Chamber

EL CENTRO, Calif., Nov. 28—(AP) — Desperado William E. Cook came to the end of his trail of lawlessness in California today as he was summoned for sentence for the murder of Robert H. Dewey, a Seattle oil salesman.

Superior Judge Luray Mouser can impose the death penalty or sentence the 29-year-old killer of six persons to life imprisonment. Unless he decrees the gas chamber for Cook, however, there is little likelihood the federal government will surrender the custody of the Joplin, Mo., dishwasher.

Cook is under sentence of 300 years in the federal prison at Alcatraz, and he was brought here for trial after representations had been made to the U. S. attorney general that the full ends of justice had not been served when Cook escaped the death penalty in Oklahoma for the killing of the five members of the Carl Mosser family last January.

Cook not only had killed Dewey in California, Jan. 6, but he had kidnaped a sheriff's deputy at Blythe, Calif., and tied him up, robbed him and left him in the desert. The squat, bull-necked badman also had kidnaped and held captive for eight days in Mexico two El Centro men, Forrest Damron and James Burke.

Cook went to trial here on a plea of innocent by reason of insanity and a jury adjudged him sane last week after deliberating less than one hour. The court fixed his degree of guilt yesterday at first degree murder, but the county probation officer didn't have his report ready, so sentence had to be deferred until 2 p.m. today.

Judge Mouser did not indicate what his decision would be, but he pointed out that after considering the evidence in the trial, the transcript of testimony before the grand jury that indicted Cook and a FBI ballistics reports on two bullets taken from Dewey's body, he was convinced the killing was deliberate and premeditated and that it was committed in connection with the perpetration of a felony—the robbery of Dewey.

Hear Bishop, Conference Head

Area EUB Young People, Adults Meet in Marion

Several hundred adults and young people from the Marion and Bucyrus groups of the Evangelical United Brethren Church met in Marion Sunday for business sessions and devotional services. Bishop Fred L. Dennis of Dayton was present and spoke at the mass meeting of adults at Calvary EUB Church. Speaker at the Youth Fellowship meeting at First EUB Church was Dr. William Messmer, Miami Conference superintendent.

The W.S.W.S. and Brotherhood delegations were served supper at the Calvary Parish House and the Youth Fellowship members at First Church, followed by the business meetings.

Officers elected by the Marion Group Brotherhood included Ralph Young at First Church, president; Loren Hord of the Rural Salem Church, vice president; Max Graham of Oakland Church in Marion, secretary; Raymond Donaugh of Greenwood Church, treasurer, and O. P. Miller of First Church, assistant.

Youth Fellowship Officers

Stanley Ruggles of First Church was elected president of the Marion Group Youth Fellowship. Rodney Albright of New Winchester was elected vice president; Miss Marjorie Dearth of the Greenwood Church in Marion, secretary; and Paul McChesney of the Rural Salem Church, treasurer. Commission chairmen include Elwin Falor of Oakland Church, worship and devotional life; Willis Wyeth of York Church, West Mansfield, evangelism and stewardship; Miss Betty Betts of Center Church near Cardington, missions and social action; and Bob Jones of Calvary Church, recreation and leisure time.

The Bucyrus Group Brotherhood elected Clifford Hoover, president; T. C. Kiess, vice president; Raymond Harter, secretary; and J. F. Gelbach, treasurer.

Bucyrus Group Youth Fellowship officers are Gene Taylor of Bellville Trinity Church, president; Robert Smith of Williamsport, vice president; Barbara Johns of Bucyrus, secretary; Alice Stahl of Galion, treasurer; Gerald Crissinger of Mt. Zion Church, worship and devotional chairman; Duane Dillman of North Robinson, evangelism and stewardship; Alice Wilton of Upper Sandusky, missions and social action; and Virginia Griffith of the Belle Vernon Church, Upper Sandusky Charge, recreation and leisure time.

The Rev. Sutherland Presides

At the Calvary mass meeting, the Rev R. L. Sutherland of Greenwood Church in Marion presided. A song service was led by the Rev. A. E. Clark of Rural Salem Church, accompanied by Mrs. J. W. Baker. A volunteer choir sang. The Rev. W. A. Tabbort of the Bucyrus Group read Scripture and offered prayer.

Using symbolism in his message, terms familiarly associated with the sea, Bishop Dennis likened the Church of Christ and its Christian people to a ship that needs to "cast out anchors to lay hold of rock." He said, "The home in this country is not as stable an institution as it used to be. The greatest percentage of homes that are stable and solid are homes which recognize the influence of the church. The most devoted will find there will always be something more to learn about God. There has been a depreciation in the value of the human being. There are people literally throwing themselves away. We need to anchor our families around the family altar."

Issues Challenge

The Youth Rally met as a unit at First Church. Dr. Messmer urged the youth to "deny itself, take up Christ's cross and follow Him." He challenged all young people to give themselves to Christ in complete abandonment of self, willingly assume responsibility for Christ and the church and give over every area in life to help Christ reach every corner of the earth with the message of salvation.

At this 7:45 service, the Youth Fellowship members from Bucyrus Grace Church assisted by their pastor, the Rev. Harry Adams, conducted devotions. The Rev John Osborn, youth director of the Bucyrus Group, played the piano, and the Rev. R. W. Faulkner, youth director of the Marion Group, presided. Several from Bucyrus First Church presented special instrumental and vocal music. The Rev. Paul Walter, director of Christian youth work on the Southern District of the Ohio Sandusky Conference, explained the plans for the Mid-Winter Youth Convention to be held at First Church, Marion, Dec. 27-29. All youth of the conference are being urged to attend.

GET GOOD NEWS. Visibly happy, Mrs. Virginia Thornton tells her son in their Philadelphia home that his daddy, Lt John W. Thornton, has been reported safe and a prisoner in a Communist camp. The lieutenant has been missing since last spring when he crashed in Korea in a helicopter.

BUCYRUS—Mr. and Mrs. Julian Lawhorn of Bucyrus are the parents of a son, born Sunday in Bucyrus City Hospital.

Yule Star Shines Atop McMillen Bin

The McMillen Feed Mills today announced the installation of a Christmas star on top of the new storage bins erected last summer at the company.

The star is 10 feet in diameter and is made up of 52 100-watt electric bulbs. It was designed and erected by the maintenance department of the company. Floyd Beck, electrician, made the star with the assistance of James Reece, Forest Mosher and Nathan Gay.

The star will be placed atop the bins every year on Thanksgiving day and will remain lighted each night until New Year's.

From its position more than 200 feet high, it can be seen from many parts of the city and several miles into the rural areas.

Campaign Cost

Mrs. Smith said it obviously was impossible for a candidate to know of or control all the money spent in his behalf. But her plan—putting the reporting burden on givers rather than the candidate—might for the first time in modern campaigns disclose what actually is spent, she said.

"If this subcommittee doesn't get out some remedial legislation from these hearings, then I think it's hopeless," she commented.

Senator Hennings (D-Mo), another subcommittee member, told reporters he felt it was time to "get some teeth" into the corrupt practices act. The expenditure reporting provisions now have many loopholes, he said.

After two days of testimony, the subcommittee had before it from the principals two sharply opposed versions of the spending.

Taft, now campaigning for the GOP presidential nomination, said the outlays for him would not total more than about $700,000 and estimated spending for Ferguson at more than $2,000,000.

Ferguson put a $5,000,000 price tag on the Taft campaign although he agreed that some of this represented only estimates and that $1,200,000 was for institutional advertising which did not name Taft directly. He said his own campaign cost a little more than $100,000.

Taft, on Monday, had said his opposition was guilty of "vitriolic smears," "lies and misrepresentations" and "scurrious personal attacks."

Called Hamstrung

Ferguson pooh-poohed the idea that his forces had lots of money. He said "The Democrats in Ohio are poor" and insisted his campaign was hamstrung in all directions because of lack of funds.

Clayman, whose Ohio group took a leading part in the battle to beat Taft, said in starting his testimony yesterday that it was Taft who "resorted to scurrility with his constant reiteration of Communism-Socialist charges aimed at CIO-PAC." He termed these charges "utterly and completely false."

Chairman Gillette (D-Ia) of the subcommittee commented that the present reporting of expenditures by senatorial candidates was "farcical" and "a travesty."

He commented that Taft reported $1,835 and Ferguson $2,370 in personal expenditures for the 1950 campaign, and said these listings were entirely proper under the law.

But actually many times these sums were spent on behalf of both men, Gillette said, and there was no requirement that much of this be accounted for in any way.

FERGUSON ON STAND. Joseph T. Ferguson gestures on the stand before the Senate elections subcommittee at Washington, where he contended that spending to re-elect Sen. Robert Taft (R-Ohio) in 1950 could be figured at 100 million dollars—using the same approach Taft did in putting costs of the Ferguson campaign at two million dollars. Ferguson, Democrat, lost the election to Taft by 430,000 votes.

Taft Calls Ferguson Charges False

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28—(AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) today described as "utterly false" any suggestion "by Joe Ferguson or anyone else" that Ohio Republicans and Democrats struck a deal to re-elect Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche last year.

Joseph T. Ferguson, Ohio State auditor, told a Senate elections sub-committee yesterday he believed "there was a deal" involved in Lausche's re-election over the Republican candidate, Don Ebright.

Ferguson also said he thinks Ebright "got a dirty deal from the Republicans."

Ebright lost to Lausche while most of the Republican ticket in Ohio was winning.

In a statement issued by his office today, Senator Taft said:

"I campaigned vigorously for the regular Republican nominee for governor—Don Ebright, as I did for the entire Republican ticket. Ebright often appeared on the same platform with me, and he was as enthusiastic for me as I was for him. I supported him publicly in every county of Ohio.

"The fact that he was defeated by Lausche was in no way a reflection on the kind of campaign he conducted or the unity within the Republican party of Ohio, which was at its highest."

Russian Press Admits House Shortage Bad

Reports Increased Govt. Anxiety As Winter Approaches

LONDON — (UP) — As the severe Russian winter draws near, Soviet authorities are showing increased anxiety over the housing situation in many cities of the USSR, the Soviet press has disclosed.

The population of Leningrad, for example, seems to be facing a grim winter. At a meeting of the city party organization reported in Pravda, Soviet Communist Party newspaper, it was stated that this year's progress in house repairs and house-building "does not guarantee the fulfillment of the established program."

Many houses in Leningrad are without gas and the plan for the repair and installation of heating is also lagging behind, the report indicated.

Smolensk Suffers

Izvestia, the government newspaper, revealed that eight years after the liberation from the German occupation. Smolensk and other towns in the same region are far from being reconstructed.

Smolensk is stated to be suffering from an acute housing shortage due to systematic non-fulfillment of building plans.

Izvestia blamed the ministry of housing for the "unsatisfactory" tempo of the reconstruction of Smolensk and 14 other Russian towns of the region.

In Kuybishev on the Volga, too, the building organizations "are lagging behind with their housing programs," Trud, the newspaper of the Soviet trade unions reported.

Poor Building

"Poor building" is also reported by Trud from Pskov, a provincial center near the former Estonian frontier.

Housing shortage and "slow building" in Minsk, the capital of the republic of Byelorussia and an important industrial center, were the subject of an article in Izvestia.

The newspaper criticized the system of buliding small houses containing only a few apartments and said that many houses built recently in Minsk remained without water and other amenities because they were built in unsuitable sites and did not fit with the city's plans.

The seriousness of the housing problem was reflected in an editorial in Isvestia, which mentioned building organizations guilty of poor planning, waste and bad organization of work.

Stassen Urges Taft To Support Eisenhower

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 28—(AP)—Harold E. Stassen proposes that Sen. Taft of Ohio join him in a coalition to draft Gen. Eisenhower for the Republican presidential nomination.

"If we Republicans could agree on Eisenhower as the 1952 Republican nominee, we could forget the primary elections and get to work on the platform," Stassen said last night during a press conference.

The former Minnesota governor, now president of the University of Pennsylvania, was here for a series of political conferences and a dinner speech.

Air Raid Drill Clears N. Y. Streets in Hurry

NEW YORK, Nov. 28—(AP)—An all-out air raid drill cleared New York's normally teeming streets of all visible life within two or three minutes today.

The shrieking sirens of the first post-war tests halted all traffic and sent pedestrians scurrying into nearby buildings at 10:30 a.m. The "all clear" sounded 10 minutes later.

Care Urged in Use Of Boric Acid

CHICAGO—(UP) — Boric acid, Grandma's eyeball cure-all, has been called a "medical wolf in sheep's clothing" by the medical director of the Kemper group of insurance companies.

"Although most people believe it is harmless," said Dr. J. D. Willems, "there actually are cases on record where improper use of boric acid has resulted in death. When the solution is too strong, it is dangerous in an open wound, for it causes serious inflammation and severe pain."

A mild solution is appropriate for use as an eyewash in a healthy eye, or for treatment of swelling, Dr. Willems said, but added, "many persons have impaired their sight through medicine-cabinet treatment of eye injuries that didn't seem particularly serious."

"If there is any doubt about the extent of an injury to the eye, consult a physician," Dr. Willems urged. "Don't tamper with your sight."

TIRED AND CONFUSED. Unidentified woman and her baby weep at a refugee center in Bologna, Italy, after they were rescued from their flooded home in the Polesine area of the Po valley in Northern Italy. Large areas in northern Italy have been inundated by floods as a result of heavy rains the past two weeks. Health authorities and flood workers are now battling the new threat of disease in the flood zone.

Shooting Stops in Korea

visional cease-fire line was reached at Panmunjom Tuesday.

Farneti said special Allied patrols into enemy territory were called off on the western front yesterday after line commanders got word not to attack for the present.

The word filtered down Tuesday night through various headquarters to the main line on the hills.

Withhold Fire

A division officer said Allied artillery observers made several sightings of Red troops Wednesday but that the U.N. guns were kept silent.

The "no cease-fire in Korea" statement came after a day of intense questioning by Allied correspondents who wanted an official explanation for the battlefront calm.

The declared mission of the Eighth Army and its attached U.N. forces "is to repel Communist aggression in this theater."

"The fact that a military demarcation line has been determined is but one of the points on the armistice agenda," the statement continued.

"Until such time as agreement is reached on all points which will insure an armistice in Korea, the Eighth Army will take any steps deemed necessary to safeguard itself against surprise and fulfill its mission."

The Army issued the statement to quiet what it called "speculation concerning the import of the military demarcation line agreement" and to answer "questions that have been raised in the past 24 hours regarding the future operations of the Eighth Army."

Correspondents noted that the statement omitted mention of the possibility of future offensive action by U.N. forces but spoke only of taking steps to protect them from Communist assaults. The correspondents also noted it referred to "repelling" Red aggression and called that defensive action at best.

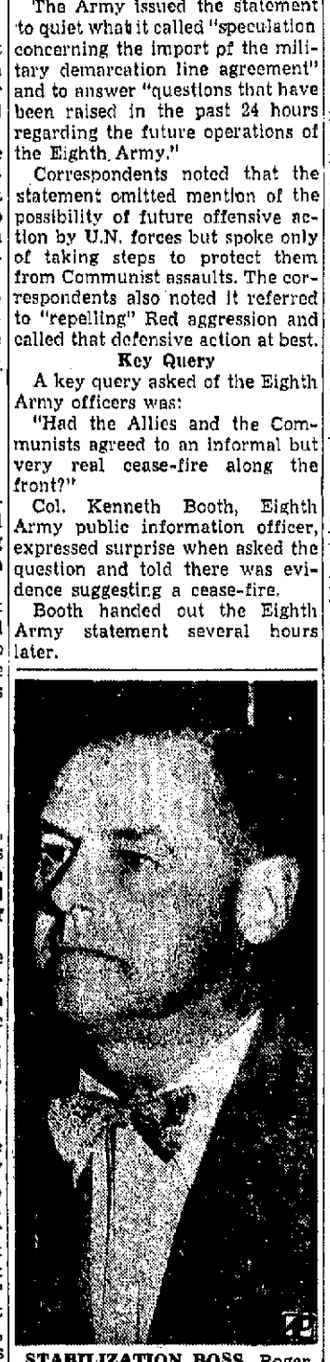
Key Query

A key query asked of the Eighth Army officers was:

"Had the Allies and the Communists agreed to an informal but very real cease-fire along the front?"

Col. Kenneth Booth, Eighth Army public information officer, expressed surprise when asked the question and told there was evidence suggesting a cease-fire.

Booth handed out the Eighth Army statement several hours later.



STABILIZATION BOSS. Roger L. Putnam (above), former mayor of Springfield, Mass., was named by President Truman to succeed Eric Johnston as Economic Stabilization Administrator.

TRUCE NEGOTIATOR. Rear Adm. R. E. Libby (above), a native of Spokane, Wash., will replace Rear Adm. Arleigh Burke as a member of the U. N. command armistice delegation in Panmunjom negotiations. Libby has been commander of Cruiser Division Three in Korean waters. Burke will take up his new assignment in Washington.

Since Tuesday midnight, except for repelling two slight Communist attacks that began on the central front Tuesday evening, the U.N. foot soldiers had hardly fired a shot.

Correspondent Farneti said an Allied officer on the western front told him the Chinese appeared to be holding off generally on their artillery and mortar fire.

The officer said a patrol ordered to check on Red activity ran into mortar fire but it appeared to be in the nature of a warning rather than an attempt to hit the patrol.

South Koreans In Action

An Eighth Army briefing officer said infantrymen of the South Korean Sixth Division tangled with Chinese Reds southeast of Kumsong on the central front Tuesday in the only major action reported along the frozen battle front.

The officer said the South Koreans recaptured three small hills in their sector east of the Upper Pukhan river, but soon lost one of them to a company of Reds.

Chinese counter-attacks on the other two hills were hurled back.

On the western front—where the mercury dropped even closer to zero—Chinese Reds threw up a colorful display of red, green and yellow flares. Presumably they were celebrating the cease-fire agreement reached at Panmunjom.

There were no reports of any significant ground contact on the western front, but Allied and Communist artillery guns continued their duel of big shells in that sector.

"Little Gibralter," a strategic peak west of Yonchon was the primary Red Artillery target. About 800 rounds fell on one divisional front near the peak.

MRS. ROOSEVELT NAMED

PARIS, Nov. 28—(AP)— Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt was named acting head of the United States delegation to the United Nations today to replace Ambassador Warren R. Austin, who is ill. Austin entered the American Hospital Neuilly last night for treatment of a sinus condition. He is expected to be laid up four or five days.

Yugoslavia Growing Up, Defies Russia

"Small Boy" Of Europe No Longer; Gets U.S. Aid

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia —(UP)—Three years ago Yugoslavia was in the position of a small boy thumbing his nose at the big bully (Russia) but not quite sure what he would do if the bully turned on him.

Today, with the signing of an arms aid agreement with the United States, the small boy has come of age.

He is still youthful, and he may still make youthful mistakes, particularly in running his own private affairs. He has, by mature reflection, come to a definite decision as to what he wants, and he has a pretty clear idea how to go about getting it.

Yugoslavia's new maturity, only now becoming internationally evident, actually dates back 10 months. It was then that its leaders made the decisions which have guided all their subsequent actions. The decisions convinced the western powers that Marshal Tito means business and deserves economic and military aid.

Drought Plays Part

The decisions were precipitated by two events outside Yugoslavia's control: Korea and the drought. Without them, the small boy might not have grown up so quickly.

Korea showed that Russian aggression was actually possible. The prompt western reaction to it forced the Yugoslavs to take another look at their plague-on-both-your-houses international attitude. They also looked at the state of their for-Yugoslavia-only defenses.

The drought had a shattering effect on a shaky economy. It coincided with the need for more resources for defense and forced them to re-assess their optimistic industrial planning.

All the head men of the Communist Party and the government were involved in this re-assessment.

When the recommendations were all in, there was a top-level meeting, probably in Belgrade in late December.

In small doses, carefully graduated, most of the decisions were then filtered down to the population.

Decisions Made

Here is the general outline of what was decided in December:

The key decision was to ask the United States for arms. It was a major step taken with hesitation among the party leaders. It was regarded as the final seal set on the break with Moscow.

Up till then many Yugoslav Communists still clung to the line that both East and West were equally "imperialist." They felt that asking help from either, especially arms, was an invitation to slavery.

It was only after the Yugoslavs saw for themselves that American food aid was really given without strings that they finally allowed themselves to be convinced.

PILOT STRIKE SCHEDULED

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 28 —(AP)—A strike is tentatively set for tomorrow by 90 pilots and co-pilots of All-American Airways. It would tie up service to about 40 cities in Ohio, Pennsylvania, Maryland, West Virginia, New Jersey, Delaware and New York. The pilots are demanding salary increases.

Says Women Fly Chinese Red Jets

MUNSAN, KOREA, Nov. 28—(AP)—Young women are flying as jet pilots in Red China's air force, a leftist newsman reported at Panmunjom today.

The report came from Wilfred Burchett, who has been covering the Korean truce conference from the Communist side as correspondent for the leftist Paris newspaper Ce Soir.

Burchett said he did not know how many women pilots were in the Chinese air force or whether any were in action over Korea. He said the women are scattered through various air units.

Burchett also reported there are many women in the Chinese tank corps.

More Hurdles Ahead

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

SIGNING of a cease-fire line agreement in Korea is only a step toward an armistice.

There still remain some vexing problems to be solved before there is any real hope for a truce-peace in that uneasy peninsula.

A top problem of course is the task of getting the enemy to agree to let joint Allied-Communist teams travel freely to all parts of Korea to see that armistice terms are carried out fully. The Reds for reasons of their own, are notoriously reluctant to permit outsiders into their territory.

That stubborn "fear of the foreigner" may be the rock upon which armistice negotiations still will founder. But it is hard to see how the Allies can withdraw from their position. They cannot blindly agree to a pact in the enforcing of which they have no share.

Hal Boyle

Another thorny issue is the problem of prisoner exchange. It has many facets.

For one thing, the return of Allied prisoners of war will reveal the full toll of Red atrocities among the captives. Nearly 11,000 Americans are listed as missing in action. The fact must be faced that only a fraction of these men remain alive, probably fewer than half.

The same uncertainty covers the fate of other U N missing including many many thousands of South Korean soldiers.

ON THE OTHER HAND, the Allies hold 160,000 prisoners on the island of Koje off Korea. The figure includes 18,000 Chinese and 40,000 North and South Korean civilians considered dangerous.

Despite this ratio, the Reds are sure to press for a straight exchange of all prisoners. They will want all their own people back, just as they did in Europe after the last world war.

But what will they do with them when they get them back?

A large number of the prisoners are deserters and defectors from the Chinese and North Korean armies. The Allies dropped millions of leaflets urging them to throw down their arms and come through the UN lines. Thousands of men did so.

What will happen to them if they are now handed back to the Reds? Some American army officers believe they will be put to death at once as traitors to the Communist cause.

AN AMERICAN INSTRUCTOR at the Koje camp said recently:

"The average (Red) prisoner does not know why he was fighting. Most of the Chinese would like to go to Formosa to join the Nationalist forces which in most cases they originally belonged to. With the exception of the few hard-core North Korean Communist officers, the average North Korean would prefer to stay south of the 38th Parallel."

Will the U.N. negotiators compel these men to return to the bitter revenge of their Communist leaders? Or will each prisoner be given his choice of going or staying?

There is a moral problem involved in the decision. And there is also a military problem. As one officer put it:

"If we force these deserters to go back, it won't look good to any future possible defectors."

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

HEARD ON THIS BEAT:

THERE is no doubt in the minds of the three or four persons who run the Pentagon that Gen Eisenhower wants the Republican nomination for President. They are prepared for the change in European Command which this political move will force — and they've so told their confidant intruding some of the country's top labor leaders . . Meanwhile the pro Communists, who control the old Wallace Progressive Party are trying to twist into their propaganda machine an attack made on the General early one morning at the recent CIO convention.

Victor Riesel

The leftwingers are telling their people, and passing it on abroad where it is being used as anti-U S propaganda, that the CIO delegates 'rousingly attacked' Eisenhower for being against "equality for the Negro people" among other things. Since such talk can hurt us in Asia I would like, as an eye and ear witness of the speech, to clear this up once and for all. The criticism of Eisenhower came soon after the final session was opened. There were fewer than 100 of the 600 delegates present. The speaker, Emil Mazey, second-in-command of the Automobile Workers, also criticized President Truman in his talk.

Mazey blasted both parties because he believes in independent political action by labor and probably still would like to see a third party of labor. And in a subsequent speech elsewhere he predicted that Sen. Taft could defeat the General in a nomination fight. But there was no reference in Mazey's blast to any anti-Negro sentiment on Eisenhower's part. The Commies are using this twisted version to alienate the Asiatics from us . . .

IT WILL BE NONE other than a senator, who has been occasionally spoken of as a possible running mate for President Truman, who will soon blast the men responsible for our war production program. The critic will be Sen. Lyndon Johnson (Dem-Tex), who will charge very bluntly that the weapons production program has virtually collapsed; that it's not turning out what should be coming off the lines and that there's complete inefficiency in the vital electronics field. He will name certain Pentagon generals responsible for this chaos . . . This explains why Mr. Wilson is gathering up data on every union strike—whether the walkout lasted an hour or a month. He plans to show that labor stoppages and material shortages are responsible . . .

JOHN L. LEWIS has taken on another press agent to publicize his welfare fund.

This came about shortly after the industry's representative on the welfare fund's board of trustees issued his own report on what is doing in this operation which deals with hundreds of millions of dollars raised by the 30 cent tax on every ton of coal mined. Lewis was furious over the businessman's speaking to the public . . This gives John L. the biggest public relations staff inside labor, obviously in preparation for his big wage drive next April.

THERE'S A WIDE-OPEN split inside the Communist labor federation, even before it launches itself officially. Leaders of the left-wing catch-all union known as the Distributive, Processing and Office Workers Union, which includes every kind of worker, from department store clerks to movie office employes, appear to have broken from the Party line. This could leave the new "third federation" still-born.

This outfit (DPOW), worth some $6,000,000, was the pivot of the new pro-Communist labor machine. It has everything — a big building, night clubs, social hall, schools and, of course, the millions of dollars needed for such a movement. It reaches from New York into Hollywood and the deep Southwest—from food raising fields to the financial district.

Now its leaders have purged the most ardent of the Communist-liners — and are being attacked by the Daily Worker for "lack of democracy." This is the union which used the 50-man roving squads to invade stores at Christmas and terrorize little businessmen.

To make up for its possible defection, the 'third federation' boss, Harry Bridges, has begun moving into new fields in California, seeking members and income . . . If the dissidents talk they can help to smash what remains of the Communist labor movement in the U.S.

WITH ERIC JOHNSTON quitting and Mike DiSalle about to leave, the White House has offered the job of controlling American wages and prices to George Taylor, former War Labor Board chief. The unions are all for him, for of all public officials, he's been the most friendly . . .

TO WORK MORE coordinately with Europe's powerful Catholic unions, the AFL has sent its secretary-treasurer, George Meany, to Utrecht, Holland, for a parley with officials of the International Federation of Christian Trade Unions. Meany's in Europe for an emergency session of the anti-Communist union federation supported by the AFL and CIO to which the Catholic unions are not yet affiliated.

BOTH THE AFL and the CIO will be pushing new newspapers this campaign year. Under the competent journalistic direction of AFL public relations chief Phil Pearl, the Federation plans to issue the AFL Weekly News Reporter. This will be the first newspaper of the AFL's 71-year career. It will be a weekly review of the news, brightly illustrated and, of course, devoted to the AFL political line in '52.

NEITHER JOHN LEWIS nor Phil Murray wants to strike the nation's most vital industries this time.

Lewis already has been talking quietly to powerful coal industry leaders in an effort to make a wage deal without crippling the mines. One reason is the huge supply of coal above the ground. The electric power companies can go for three months without a single piece of the black rock. The steel mills can go at least sixty days.

Meanwhile, both Phil Murray and the steel mill owners, realizing that any stoppage in that industry means paralysis of munitions-making are trying to avoid a strike—and probably will, with the help of the White House . . Experts close to President Truman have decided that such a national walkout can be averted by granting Murray's million steelworkers a pay package increase up to 20 cents an hour. This comes to some 400 million dollars a year. To be "neutral," the government will approve steel price hikes of eight or nine dollars a ton.

An English friar, Roger Bacon, and a German monk, Berthold Schwartz, both living in the 14th Century, have both been credited with the accidental discovery of gunpowder.

Gen. Willoughby Claims Newsmen Biased

Ex-Intelligence Chief For MacArthur Raps Korean War Reporting

NEW YORK, Nov. 28 (AP) Gen. MacArthur's former chief of intelligence has accused six newspapermen of "inaccurate, biased and prejudiced" reporting of the Korean war, and charged their writings gave aid and comfort to the Communists.

The officer is retired Maj. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby.

In an article in the December issue of Cosmopolitan Magazine, Willoughby named the six individual newspapermen and also criticized three news-magazines. He said they "appeared to go out of their way to create defeatism thought patterns, and to belittle the country's armed forces."

Newspaper coverage of the war, Willoughby said, may have been the major factor in President Truman's decision to fire Gen. MacArthur.

"I am convinced the climate of defeat created an atmosphere of tension, uneasiness and distrust between Tokyo and Washington. This is believed to have been the major cause of the MacArthur-Truman split."

Newsmen Named

Sharp denials immediately came from the newspapermen whom Willoughby identified by name. They are:

Joseph Alsop, syndicate columnist; Hanson Baldwin, military correspondent of the New York Times; Homer Bigart, war correspondent of the New York Herald-Tribune; Hal Boyle, war correspondent and columnist of the Associated Press; Drew Pearson, syndicate columnist; and Christopher Rand, former member of the Herald-Tribune's Korea staff, now resigned.

MAJ. GEN. WILLOUGHBY

"During the most difficult days in Korea," Willoughby wrote, "these men were often inaccurate, biased, prejudiced and petulant; they confused an unhappy public. The corrosive effect of their irresponsible reporting was equal to that of calculated defeatism, even if such was not intended. Their reporting furnished aid and comfort to the enemy."

Magazines Cited

Willoughby also cited Time, Newsweek, and U. S. News and World Report for "inferential, if not calculated deception of the public."

He called the newspapermen—

"These ragpickers of modern literature . . . careless chroniclers . . . jittery experts . . . journalistic soothsayers . . . the fickle press . . . the panting eagerness of a sidewalk huckster and the unctuous concern of an undertaker."

Willoughby's accusations centered, mainly, around two points:

1. That the correspondents had "belittled" the Eighth Army, and

2. That they erroneously described last year's withdrawal, under Chinese attack, as a "defeat," magnifying its proportions, criticizing army intelligence, and exaggerating the casualty figures.

In their replies, the correspondents denied having criticized the army, as such, or the individual soldiers. They said they had criticized MacArthur, for his overall decisions, and Willoughby for his intelligence reports, on which MacArthur apparently based his strategy in Korea.

Quotes Baldwin

As an example of the "belittling" of the Army, Willoughby quoted extensively from an article by Baldwin. It compared American generalship, troops and equipment with those of other countries, and said the Americans were not always the best in the world.

Willoughby described this as a "devastating, surprising and telling reportorial attack."

Baldwin said the article was written before the Korean fighting began. He said it was prepared early in the spring of 1950, but was not published until after the war started. He added:

"As an intelligence officer, Gen. Willoughby was widely and justly criticized by Pentagon officials as well as in the papers. His present article is as misleading and inaccurate as were some of his intelligence reports."

Bigart, cabling from Paris, said his criticisms had been directed against MacArthur and Willoughby, not the army as such. He replied:

"General MacArthur and his tight little circle of advisers have never been able to stomach criticism, whether from a war correspondent or the President of the United States. In an attempt to silence criticism, they have adopted the line that anyone who questions their judgment is 'inaccurate, biased, prejudiced and petulant,' and that any criticism of them involves some sort of slur on the whole army."

Pearson Concurs

Drew Pearson made the same distinction in a statement which read:

"Gen. Willoughby is still smarting from my account of how he immigrated to the U. S. after being forced to flee a Prussian military school and how he continued to practice Prussian swagger methods in the U. S. Army. He also ignores the fact that it was his faulty intelligence, not the Second Division's, which I criticized in the Yalu River advance. If Willoughby's intelligence had been more accurate, the division never would have got in the position where it was forced to retreat."

Boyle said American intelligence in Korea, for which Willoughby was responsible, was "tragically bad." He said:

"The general's job was to obtain information about the Chinese and to evaluate it. I thought then, and I still think, that our intelligence was tragically bad. Gen. Willoughby, naturally, feels otherwise. In this case, the events give the answer—the troops ran into a complete surprise, and were decisively beaten back.

Generalities about 'bias and prejudice cannot outweigh the hard facts of defeat and the cold statistics of losses. It was not 'bias and prejudice' that rolled the army back across thousands of square miles of lost ground."

Makes Some Exceptions

Willoughby excepted some sections of the American press from his attack.

"The great press associations," he wrote, "have been generally accurate and balanced.

"Grass roots papers like the Shreveport Times have often been more astute in their news interpretations than many of the great metropolitan dailies."

John O'Connell, editor of Cosmopolitan Magazine, a Hearst publication, said Willoughby's article was submitted by his agent, and that it was considered for several months before publication. The agent, Miss Gertrude Algase, said the article was part of a chapter from a book Willoughby is writing.

the United States and its traditions.

As there are millions of Americans who hold the same views as I do on this subject, it has become for motion pictures, radio, television and advertising an extremely serious problem. They could kill off a few conservative commentators and nobody would know the difference, but the rest of us can destroy the commercial value of an actor, singer, writer by passive resistance, by a refusal to have anything to do with him.

I enjoy Paul Robeson's singing but I despite his attitude toward my country. Therefore, I refuse to listen to him sing. No one can force me to listen to him sing. No one can force me to buy a product which sponsors his singing. I am free to resist both the song and the advertising because I object to his political associations. He was free to make his choice and did. I am free to make my choice and do. You are equally free to decide for yourself. That is the issue which these people have to face and curiously enough, the more they try to cry that they are artists, not political philosophers, the more ridiculous they appear.

Driver, 17, In Court After Police Chase

80-Mile-an-Hour Pursuit Through City and Country

A 17-year-old boy was to be arraigned in juvenile court this afternoon charged with reckless operation and resisting arrest.

His arrest came after an 80-mile-per-hour chase over streets in Marion's East Side in the early morning hours Tuesday.

Started at State and Center

Police said they saw a car run through a red traffic light at State and Center Sts. shortly after midnight Tuesday. The car went east on Center St. at speeds up to 80 miles per hour, then turned down Charles St. and drove with lights out until it came to E. Church St. and then east on Church St. to Kensington Place and then north to Center St. Police reported the driver of the car ran through traffic lights and stop signs.

Mud Halts Chase

The car then went east on U. S. Route 30-S to Route 98 and north on Route 98 to a road which ends at the Marion Municipal Airport. The car and the police cruiser became mired in the mud at the edge of the airport some distance apart. Occupants of the car were able to get it free first and drove off.

Police officers had obtained the license number of the car and they contacted the owner, who came to police headquarters today with his 17-year-old son who admitted he was the driver. The boy is held by police until the hearing today in juvenile court.

wage and excise division of the Northern California office.

Ignatius M. Beresford, assistant chief of the wage and excise division.

Paul V. Doyle, chief office deputy.

The paper said Daniel F. Cunningham, assistant chief of the seizure and sales division, was reinstated.

The Chronicle said also that the fate of James Smyth, suspended collector in charge of the office here would be known today.

In Washington, an announcement was promised today of what officials described as a further shakeup affecting some field offices of the Internal Revenue Bureau. Six collectors have already been fired, suspended or resigned and dozens of lesser employes have been let out or suspended. The new announcement, by Commissioner John B. Dunlap, was said to involve at least several offices.

Before Caudle, fired two weeks ago by President Truman for "outside activities," was excused by the House subcommittee yesterday, his testimony brought out that:

1. He had been the guest on two occasions of a Charlotte, N. C., textile machinery manufacturer on expenses-paid fishing trips to Palm Beach, Fla., while his host was under investigation for tax fraud. Caudle said he didn't know that then.

2. Accompanying him on one trip was Charles Oliphant, chief counsel of the Internal Revenue Bureau - - a top policy official in determining what tax fraud cases are referred to the justice department for prosecution.

Got "Relief"

3. Caudle's host, Troy Whitehead, Charlotte, N. C., textile manufacturer, got "relief" from his tax troubles from Oliphant. Caudle said he "may have" asked Oliphant to remove tax liens from Whitehead's property.

Caudle, a glum and subdued witness, frequently said under close examination by committee Counsel Adrian W. Dewind that he was unable to recall many incidents or facts.

At one point, he said he would "do the same for anyone" when asked if he had not interceded in behalf of Whitehead — then in tax troubles — because of a feeling of obligation for past favors and friendships.

Caudle's testimony brought Oliphant's name into the House hearings for the first time. Questioned later by reporters, Oliphant said he had no comment.

At Key West, Fla., where President Truman is vacationing, newsmen last night asked Presidential Secretary Joseph Short if "any action" was planned concerning Oliphant.

I've heard nothing along that line," Short said.

Before pleading a bad headache, Caudle testified that in the spring of 1944 he was flown to Florida on a fishing trip in a private plane owned by Whitehead.

Caudle said Whitehead furnished the airplane transportation, and Lou H. Pollock the Palm Beach accommodations. Pollock was described as an apartment owner in Palm Beach and as a retired Charlotte businessman.

Where did this vast force mushroom from? Why did Allied intelligence have no inkling of it? It should have.

Who really let MacArthur down in the lost battle near the Yalu—a few newspapermen or his own chief of intelligence?

GENERAL WILLOUGHBY'S argument is with history, not with newsmen carrying out their responsibility to the American public. To report the major mistakes of a major general is no criticism of the American Army as such. An army is many men, not one.

Even in this odd world, I doubt if Willoughby will be able to prove a man can whitewash himself by daubing the press with a worn tar brush. Surely he must always remember he didn't know what he ought to have known when 100,000 American soldiers marched toward anguish and ambush, hopeful that his wrong intelligence was right.

Was it only a year ago? Has the general forgotten already? The men who marched haven't.

FILED AND FORGOTTEN

WESTERLY, R. I.—(UP)—The Westerly highway commission filed under "requests received" a letter dated May 1, 1894, which just arrived. The letter asked that Aquidneck Avenue be graded "so that the wagons and pleasure carriages can find passage."

Hunting Near Delaware Dam Said "On Par"

Hunting in the Delaware Dam area apparently was on a par with other sections of Ohio, according to a report made by the Ohio Division of Wildlife, to the Associated Press today from Columbus.

A total of 2,493 hunters beat the brush in the area on the first three days of the season. They bagged 507 cock pheasants and 1,732 rabbits. However, hunting success apparently dropped off after opening day. On opening day alone, a total of 1,029 hunters killed 383 birds and 1,113 of the rabbits in the dam area.

The AP said Ohio hunters who were in the right spot on opening day enjoyed a lot of success. However, other points throughout Ohio reported game bags ranging from good to rather spotty.

That's the summing up by the Ohio Division of Wildlife's report on the "take" in game. The division issued its report today.

The bag of ringneck pheasants—as indicated by pre-season estimates was fairly good on the opening day of the season. But snow and bad weather slowed success since. Rabbit hunting has been spotty.

Division officials said hunters fortunate enough to have made the right choice of hunting grounds on opening day enjoyed good hunting. Two Ohio public hunting preserves, both operated for the first time on a registration basis, reported heavy hunting pressure but also excellent game kills.

for the second half. A whole year's taxes may be paid during the first half period by doubling the amount on the statement.

Persons paying by mail may have a receipt returned if they enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope, Hinklin said. His office will be unable to return a receipt unless postage is prepaid. State laws forbid the office to spend money for postage for that reason.

The treasurer said flaws probably will be found in the new system during its early use. He expects it will take several pay periods before the flaws are ironed out but said he was confident the plan will be more convenient for the taxpayers and the staff in his office.

Plans Mapped For City's New Sewage Plant

Operating Levy May Again Be Put Up to Voters

The sewer committee of City Council, composed of Chairman Newton Cunningham, councilman-at-large, Councilman-at-large George Stafford and Third Ward Councilman Herman Rinehart met with other council members Tuesday night to discuss possible methods of operating the new sewage disposal plant.

Mr. Cunningham said the meeting was held for the purpose of starting plans for obtaining revenue for operations of the new $600,000 plant approved by Marion voters at the Nov. 6 election. The bond issue was approved but a three-fourth mill levy to furnish operating costs was turned down by the voters.

Another Vote Probable

Mr Cunningham said tentative plans call for council to place the same three-quarter mill levy on the ballot at next November's election. He said several persons had indicated they did not fully understand the levy prior to the election.

The levy would have provided money for operating and maintaining the new plant. The present plant is operated by money from the general fund. However, Mr. Cunningham said the amount of the appropriation has not been sufficient to keep the plant up to normal operating conditions.

The committee chairman said bids would be received in the near future for construction of the new plant. No definite date has been set he said. The next step for City Council will be passing of legislation authorizing the city to issue the bonds. However, bids may be received before that step is completed, Mr. Cunningham said.

Campaign Planned

He reported that should Council take steps to place the levy on the ballot again, an intensive campaign would be conducted next summer in an effort to acquaint the voters with all points of the levy.

Attending the meeting, in addition to Council members, were City Solicitor John W. Watters, City Auditor Elmer Shaw, Engineer T. S. Cathers and R. D. Seidel, a representative of Hoyd G. Browne and Associates, sanitary engineers.

Ohioans Put on Big Celebration

Bob Hope in Bellaire For Premier of Movie

BELLAIRE, O., Nov. 28—(AP)—Mr Robert Hope of Hollywood came back to Ohio yesterday—but it was too cold for him to press his nose in wet cement.

But Bellaire didn't mind. They took his shoe prints instead, and put on a big celebration for a parlor premiere of the comedian's new movie "My Favorite Spy."

Mrs. M. J. Kuchinka of Bellaire had won the first showing of the film for writing the best letter on "Why I would like to have 'My Favorite Spy' premiered' in my home."

10,000 Turn Out

Quipping furiously, the one-time Cleveland resident, sporting earmuffs, saw 20,000 persons turn out for a parade in sub-freezing weather.

"I'm glad to be down here in this deep freeze," Hope cracked at a program in the high school stadium after the parade.

Mayor John J. Saunders gave the comedian a key to the city. "I'm happy to get it," Hope said, "but I hear they are already changing the locks uptown."

The whole town had been agog since Hope and his party arrived yesterday morning. The others included Jerry Colonna, Marilyn Maxwell, Jan Sterling, Gloria Grahame, Susan Morrow, Mary Murphy and Les Brown's band.

Miss Murphy, a 20-year-old brunette, is from Rocky River, a Cleveland suburb, and has been in Hollywood a year and a half. "We think a lot of Mary out there," said Hope.

After the stadium show Hope and company tape recorded a program to be broadcast next Tuesday at 9:30 p. m. over NBC.

After dinner at Mrs. Kuchinka's house about 100 people crowded into the living room and "My Favorite Spy" was run off.

First Mrs. Frank J. Lausche, wife of Ohio's governor, officially welcomed Hope back to the state.

In the movie, Hope's resemblance to a noted spy gets him involved with co-star Hedy Lamarr. During one kissing scene Hope told the first-night audience, "I had to have my lips re-treaded after that one."

After the premier, Dr. John Scholl of Wheeling, examined Hope. He said the comedian had a 102-degree fever and a mild attack of grippe.

Hope went to his hotel in Wheeling, but he planned to leave today for Camp Atterbury, Ind., where he'll preview "My Favorite Spy" for wounded Korea veterans at the post hospital.

2 Accidents On County Roads

Two minor accidents on county roads Tuesday were reported by the state highway patrol.

Mrs. Jean Sifritt of 228½ Windsor St. was driving east on Crawford County Road 19 at 6:30 a.m. when she lost control of her car and went into a ditch on the left side of the road. She was treated by a Marion physician for arm and hand injuries, and was taken to Marion City Hospital for X-rays.

The left front end of the car was considerably damaged in the accident, which occurred 1½ miles east of Route 98.

The left front fender of another car was damaged slightly when the emergency brake slipped and the vehicle rolled down the road and off into a ditch on Marion County Road 136, just east of Route 23 at 8:50 p.m. The driver, Mary Ruppart of near Ashley, had pulled the brake and left the car just before the accident occurred.

Patrol Arrests 5 On Charges Of Speeding

Five arrests on speeding charges were made Tuesday by state highway patrolmen.

Robert M Reynolds, 55, of Hotel Harding and Joseph H Rasnick, 24, of Highland Park, Mich., were arrested at 4 p.m. on Route 23. Both pleaded guilty before Judge W Dexter Hazen, who fined each $15 and costs.

Farnum J. Smith, 35, of Delaware was arrested on Route 23 at 10:25 p.m. and was fined $10 and costs when he pleaded guilty before Mayor Ansel Lockhart of Delaware.

Harold P. Redmile, 55, of Columbus was fined $15 and costs by Mayor R. R. Bennington of Mt. Gilead after his arrest on Route 42 at 8:10 p.m. He pleaded guilty to the speeding charge.

Charles Dickess, 19, of Coal Grove, O., posted bond for appearance at 1 p.m. today before L. C. Schoenberger, justice of the peace in Upper Sandusky. He was arrested at 7:50 p.m. on Route 23.

THREE OF A KIND

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—(UP)—The first three entries in the 1952 Maid of Cotton contest all are named Patricia Ann. They are 19-year-old Patricia Ann Weber of Poplar Bluff, Mo.; Patricia Ann Mullarkey, 20, of Dallas, Tex., and Patricia Anne McGougan, 20, of Smithfield, N. C.

Pelts Stolen In Junk Yard Theft

Animal pelts valued at $50 were stolen from the Saunders junk yard at 173 Davids St. last night. Entry to the building was gained by breaking a window on the west side of the building. The theft was reported at 8:04 a.m. today, police said. Nothing else in the building was disturbed.

GIVES BLOOD FREELY

NASHUA, N. H. — (UP)—A "five-gallon" man heads the Red Cross Blood donor campaign here. C. Carlton Coffin so far has been given 42 pints of his blood in support of the Red Cross service.

Music Broadcast Set for Tonight

Another broadcast in a series presented by the Central District of the Ohio Federation of Music Clubs will be heard tonight at 8:30 over WMRN.

A program of traditional Christmas songs will be sung by Mrs. DeJon Morral Hassell, lyric soprano, with the piano accompaniments by Mrs. Lewis Wills.

The program of Christmas selections will include: "Deck the Halls With Boughs of Holly", (tradition Welsh air); "Cantique De Noel," Adolphe Adam, "Ave Maria," Bach-Gounod, "Joyful Greetings I Bring You," Stickle; "Stille Nacht," Gruber-Mohr.

SKUNK GETS CLEARANCE

NORTHAMPTON, Mass.—(UP)—Two automobiles were damaged in a collision when Mrs. E. Willard stopped her car suddenly to let a skunk cross the highway.

Suppose You Were The Funeral Director . . .

If you will think for a moment in terms of what you would do if you were a funeral director—you probably will have the answer to many of the reasons why Hughes Funeral Service is what it is. To us, funeral service is doing for our neighbors in this community the things which, under those circumstances, they cannot do for themselves. And a great many of the services we perform spring from that same thought of neighborliness.

LUDWIG'S THE NAME. A couple of Harding High School products, both Ludwig by name but no relation, may be doing their utmost in the next couple of years to aid Michigan in helping the Wolverines in kicking the stuffings out of Ohio State.

Which might bring us around to a new version of: What the governor of Ohio said to the governor of Michigan.

They are Dean and Paul Ludwig, muscular young men who played for the Prexies in '50.

DURABLE DEAN. Playing for Michigan as a freshman this season, Dean Ludwig is the son of Rev. Harrison L. and Mrs. Ludwig of 293 E. Church St. The 190-pounder played defensive center and saw action in several games although he was not called on against the Bucks.

A good student, Dean also rated as one of the most valuable members of Coach Kenny Somerlot's basketball team last year.

PLUNGING PAUL. A hard-plunging fullback, Paul Ludwig won his letter at Kiski prep school in Saltsburg, Pa. the past season. He hopes to enroll at Michigan next fall.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Ludwig of 265 S. Prospect St. Paul weighs around 200 and is equally good on offense and defense. Besides football, he played basketball and was a star in track at Harding.

JOKE, SON. Latest joke to reach this desk is on golf . . . During an amateur golf tournament, a contestant was seen by one of the tourney officials driving about 2 feet in front of the tee markers.

"Here, you can't do that," said the official, "You're disqualified."

"What for?" shouted the golfer.

"Why, you're driving off in front of the markers."

"Aw, go on back to the clubhouse," said the disgruntled golfer, "I'm playing my third stroke."

TIME FOR CIGARS. Latest athlete to be passing out cigars is Don Berger, hard-hitting outfielder for the Marion Red Sox last season.

Mrs. Berger recently gave birth to a 9-pound son at their home in Fremont, Ill. Don is expected to go into the Army Feb. 1.

The news was passed on by Mrs. Frances Disbennett of 390 Bellefontaine Ave. The Bergers roomed with Mrs. Disbennett.

Picked as AP Backs of Week

NEW YORK, Nov. 28—(AP)—Bill Tate, Illinois, and Bud Reffler, Washington State, were picked today as the backs of the week in the Associated Press poll.

Tate earned the offensive nod for his yeoman work in bucking the Northwestern line. Reffler, although he played the full 60 minutes against Washington, got the defensive laurels.

Tate, Illini fullback, cracked the Northwestern line for 167 yards in '31 carries. His work constantly kept Northwestern bottled up and paved the way for the Illini field goal that won the game and a trip to the Rose Bowl.

Drake Breaks Relations With Oklahoma Aggies

DES MOINES, Nov. 28—(AP)—Drake University ended its 43-year-old Missouri Valley Conference membership last night, and Bradley University quickly indicated it may follow suit.

The Drake athletic council said it took its action because of the "refusal of the conference to investigate . . . the assault upon John Bright in the Drake-Oklahoma A. & M. football game at Stillwater, Oct. 20."

Bright suffered a broken jaw in the early minutes of the game, which Oklahoma A. & M. won, 27-14. Drake officials after viewing pictures of the game charged Bright was the victim of at least 3 "vicious and premeditated" attacks by Aggie Guard Wilbanks Smith.

Drake in its action last night also cut off athletic relations with Oklahoma A. & M., effective "at once." The council said it was asking Aggie officials to cancel contracts for two basketball games between the two schools this season.

President David Owen of Bradley said at Peoria, Ill., he would recommend to his faculty athletic committee that it follow Drake's lead in withdrawing from the conference. The committee meets today.

Morral Rolls Over Edison

Coach Norm Weston's Morral cagers dumped Edison, 52-20, Tuesday night at Morral in preparation for the Marion County League opener Friday night with Green Camp.

The winners spurted to a 16-5 lead in the first frame and by halftime had stretched the margin to 30-9. It was the fourth win without a loss for the Morral squad. Ron Craycraft posted 16 markers to lead the scorers. Morral's Jim Parker netted 12 while Farris was high for Edison with seven.

Morral's reserve team also posted its fourth straight win by racing to a 33-7 verdict. Clair Hensel scored 10 points. Pfeifer of Edison accounted for four of his team's seven points.

Three Teams Join "Trotters" On Cage Card

Three of the country's leading professional basketball clubs—the Boston Whirlwinds, Toledo Mercurys and Philadelphia Sphas—will round out the basketball program at the Coliseum Sunday evening, Dec. 9 which will feature the apeparance of the world-famed Harlem Globetrotters.

Although pairings for the doubleheader, which should highlight the central Ohio cage season, will not be made until later, fans in this sector can be assured of seeing two contests—plus the Globetrotters at their funniest.

The Trotters have been repeating their triumphal tour of last winter, drawing capacity crowds thus far in such large buildings as New York's Madison Square Garden, Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens and the Montreal Forum. The Globetrotters, in the face of a large drop of basketball interest in New York City, drew slightly less than 19,000 at Madison Square Garden 4 weeks ago.

Dutch Dehnert, originatar of the pivot play in basketball and for many years a star for the Original Celtics, is now piloting the Toledo Mercurys. The Sphas hold an honorable spot in the annals of professional basketball, dating back longer than even the Globetrotters. The Boston club, like Toledo and Philadelphia, is loaded with former collegiate stars.

IN GATOR BOWL

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 28—(AP)—The Clemson Tigers and the Miami Hurricanes will renew their post-season football rivalry in the Gator Bowl here New Year's Day. Clemson defeated Miami, 15-14, in the Orange Bowl at Miami last Jan. 1. Selection of the South Carolina college to oppose the South Florida school was announced Tuesday by President Sam Wolfson of the Gator Bowl Association.

Browns, White Sox In 8-Player Swap

Veeck Gets Prize West Coast Rookie

NEW YORK, Nov. 28—(AP)—Baseball's hot stove league has begun to show signs of life now that the college football season is nearly ended.

Those two live wire magnates, Frank Lane of the Chicago White Sox and Bill Veeck of the St. Louis Browns, stirred up the fires in the battered stove yesterday with an 8-man deal.

The White Sox shipped First Baseman Gordon Goldsberry, Outfielder Jim Riviera, Pitcher Dick Littlefield, Catcher Gus Niarhos and Infielder Joe De Maestri to the Browns for Catcher Sherm Lollar, Pitcher Al Widmar and Shortstop Tommy Upton. Later, the white Sox traded Upton to the Washington Senators for Infielder Sam Dente.

Lollar, also sought by the Boston Red Sox, was the man the White Sox wanted most. Lane intimated that the hard-hitting Lollar would greatly boost Chicago's chances of improving on its fourth place finish last season.

Browns Happy

The Browns were happy to get Rivera, the Pacific Coast League's most valuable player. Rivera played for Brownie Manager Rogers Hornsby at Seattle last year.

Hornsby said, "He's the only player in all baseball today that I'd buy a $2.00 box seat to watch play."

St Louis acquisition of Rivera was not exactly a surprise. During the season it was rumored that Rivera was part of a deal that saw the Browns sell Outfielder Ray Coleman to Chicago for the waiver price. The Sox had purchased Rivera from Seattle for spring delivery.

Others figuring in the baseball news yesterday included Lefty O'Doul, Marty Marion and Fred Saigh.

O'Doul, former National League batting champion, was signed to manage San Diego of the Pacific Coast League. O'Doul, manager of San Francisco for the past 17 seasons, replaces former Detroit Tiger Manager Del Baker at the Padre helm.

Offers For Marion

Marion, released as manager of the St. Louis Cardinals this week, was considering player-coach offers from the Browns and Boston Braves. The former star shortstop said he expected to make up his mind soon.

Saigh, owner of the Cardinals, said the search for a new manager had narrowed to 3 men, two of them from outside the Cardinal organization. One of the prospects reportedly is Ed Stanky, second baseman of the New York Giants. The man in the organization is either Card Coach Terry Moore or Johnny Keane, manager of the Red Birds Columbus American Association team.

Donians Nip Iberia, 43-41

Caledonia's cage crew eked out a 43-41 win over Iberia Tuesday night on the Iberia hardwood. A last period rally by the Presidents fell short of knotting the count.

The Donians took a 12-7 lead in the first frame and led at the half, 20-14. They increased their margin to 35-26 at the start of the final period. In their last period fight, the Prexies poured in 15 markers while holding the winners to eight.

Joe Green poured through 18 points for the winners to lead the scorers. Kay Zeger led the Prexies with 17. The Reserves posted a 39-28 win over the Caledonia futures. The Iberia juniors hit on 15 of 18 attempts from the foul line.

Iberia will play host to Claridon Saturday night while the Donians' next game will be played next Tuesday at Edison.

IT'S OFFICIAL. Doug Mills (left), University of Illinois director of athletics, and Ray Eliot, head football coach, grin broadly in Champaign, Ill., as they hear officially that the Illini have been selected as the Big 10 team to meet Stanford in the Rose Bowl game on Jan. 1, 1952. Illinois beat Northwestern in the final game of the season with a 3-0 score to take the Big 10 championship.

Confederate Flag Means South In Columbus Cagers

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 28—(AP)—South High School's new basketball jackets have Confederate flags sewn across the hoods.

"How come Confederate flags in Central Ohio?" asked a newsman.

"Aren't we in the south end of Columbus?" answered Coach George Hood.

Descendants of union veterans didn't seem too alarmed.

"It's just a fad," said R. J. Williams, secretary of the Sons of Veterans of the Civil War.

LaRue Beaten By Mt. Victory, 47-32

LaRue dropped a 47-32 verdict Tuesday night to Mt. Victory High School at the Hardin County school. A disappointing third quarter during which the LaRue squad scored only three points while the winners posted 18 proved disastrous.

Ollis of Mt. Victory poured 19 points through the nets to lead the scoring. Raymond Hosey and Dick Hoover paced the losers, each with nine points. The host school squeezed through to a 28-24 win in the reserve game.

LaRue's next game will be Saturday night at Byhalia when they tune up for the league opener Dec. 7 against Waldo on the LaRue floor.

Gavilan Takes On Bratton

CHICAGO, Nov. 28 —(AP)—Johnny Bratton, the perennial comebacker, and welterweight champion, Kid Gavilan, the flashy Cuban, meet in a non-title 10 rounder in Chicago Stadium tonight.

The bout, to be televised nationally (10 p.m. EST), is expected to attract fewer than 7,000 spectators with a gate of about $25,000.

Gavilan dethroned Bratton in Madison Square Garden last May after the 24-year-old Chicago Negro had worn the NBA welterweight crown 65 days. The Cuban is a 3-1 favorite tonight.

This fight marks the fourth comeback attempt of Bratton, once ranked as a boxing wizard, after having his jaw broken 3 times.

Waldo Bows To Berlin

Waldo was dumped, 58-47, Tuesday night at Berlin by a high-flying rangy Berlin High School five.

After holding the host team to a 13-10 edge in the first period, Waldo watched the winners pull away in the second frame. Berlin's Hall dumped in 22 points to lead the scoring parade. Donald McKenzie and Junior Schultz paced the Waldo crew, each with 10.

The Waldo reserves notched a 27-18 win. The Waldo squad will swing into county league action Friday when they play host to Meeker.

Morse's Name Missing From Harding Picture

Eddie Morse's name was missing from the Harding High School football team picture yesterday. Morse was absent when the picture was taken. He was a regular on the Prexy offensive team the past season.

NO BOWL FOR MIAMI

OXFORD, O., Nov. 28—(AP)—Miami University has turned thumbs down on a "feeler" for the Sun Bowl football game at El Paso, Tex., Jan. 1. John Brickels, Miami athletic director, said the school was asked by the Sun Bowl group if it would be interested in a bid. The Miami athletic advisory council voted, however, against a bowl game.

Pick Hoyman As INS Prep Coach of Year

By International News Service

Roy Hoyman, an old Massillon High graduate, was named today by coaches, sports editors and sportscasters as the 1951 international News Service scholastic football coach of the year.

Hoyman, who in 3 years has brought Steubenville almost to the top in Ohio scholastic football, was the top-heavy choice of the more than 70 balloters.

The Steubenville eleven won nine games and dropped only one this season, the best Big Red record in 16 years, and Hoyman was given credit for a major share in the upsurge. The squad's only setback came at the hands of Massillon, his alma mater, but by a scant 13-6 margin.

In fact, the Tigers had to break a 6-6 deadlock in the last 10 seconds of play to down Hoyman's fighting team, which he still contends is the best in the state. Steubenville rated second in the INS poll of top Ohio teams.

Hoyman not only has become a magic name among coaching circles but he also has become a popular figure among the townspeople in the Ohio river football hotbed.

The "coach of the year" said that his squad is composed of the "roughest, toughest group of boys in a football way" that he has ever coached.

The Big Red coach has retained through life his zest for football which he developed in the gridiron conscious city of Massillon, where he was born and raised.

Hoyman played regular center for 3 years under Paul Brown, who was then head football coach at Massillon and piling up state title after state title.

Hoyman's next step was to earn 3 varsity letters in both football and baseball at Miami University, where he was captain of the grid squad in his senior year.

Pleasant Tops Ridgeway

Pleasant rolled to its fourth basketball victory of the year by downing Ridgeway, 65-61, last night at Ridgeway. Bernard Martin led the way with 20 points.

The winners trailed 29-23 at halftime, but put on a third period spurt for 25 points. Whetsel led the losers with 18 markers.

Pleasant also won the reserve game, 33-26.

Graham Given Nod in Cincy

CINCINNATI, Nov. 28—(AP)—Irish Billy Graham of New York last night added Danny Stepanovitch of Pittsburgh to his victims along the road to a possible welterweight boxing championship chance.

But it wasn't done without a struggle.

The veteran Graham won a unanimous 10-round decision from Stepanovitch but he never had the Pittsburgh youngster off his feet and it wasn't until the sixth round that Graham began to pull away.

Graham's best rounds were the last two.

A slim crowd of only 1,498 saw the bout.

Cake Adds Tasty Welcome to Holiday Menu

DON'T LOOK NOW, but that's the holiday season creeping up on the calendar. And for hostesses, that means more friendly gatherings and a need for more new ways to say welcome and best wishes.

Often the key to an easier and happier season for them can be found in a cake as simple to make and as lovely to look at as this one. With its rich filling, fluffy icing, and sprinkling of delicate coconut, it opens the door to success for hostesses and delight for guests.

COCONUT FIG LAYER CAKE

2 8-inch cake layers
1 cup figs, chopped
1/3 cup sugar
2/3 cup boiling water
1 T lemon juice
1 T butter
½ cup shredded coconut, cut

Use favorite recipe for white cake or make layers according to directions on package of instant white cake mix.

Combine figs, sugar, and water in saucepan and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, 6 to 8 minutes, or until thickened. Remove from heat, add lemon juice, butter and coconut. Cool. Spread filling between layers of cake, frost tops and sides of layers with seven minute frosting. Decorate top of cake with fig halves and the sides with coconut.

wait. I will wait for two years, and then I am coming to find you if you are at the ends of the earth.'"

She paused and looked off into space.

"Someway, it didn't sound 'hammy' when he said it," she resumed. "But, I never could shake off the doubt I had about him, and the fear that my emotions had let your father down, and gradually my feelings about him faded into nothingness. But the doubt, and the fear, remained, and they were uppermost today when I saw him."

"The two years is up?" I asked.

"Yes, three weeks ago," she said. "And you can't imagine the impression of evil I had when I saw him today."

SELL TICKETS TO ROSES

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 28—(AP)—The University of Illinois' share of Rose Bowl tickets, 13,000, went on sale yesterday to Illinois students, faculty and staff members. Athletic Didector Doug Mills said second preference in the sale of tickets will go to dues paying members of the Alumni Association, with top priority for alumni residing in California. If tickets still remain, general public orders may be placed by mail on or after Dec. 5.

SMITH GOLF PREXY

CHICAGO, Nov. 28—(AP)—Horton Smith, a perfectionist for detail and a proven administrator, has moved up from secretary to president of the Professional golfers Association of America. Election of the 43-year-old Detroit golfer at the PGA convention yesterday came as no surprise. Smith, who had aspired to become president for some time, had held the job of PGA secretary for the last 3 years.

HORSE OF YEAR

NEW YORK, Nov. 28—(AP)—C. V. Whitney's Counterpoint was unanimously voted the American champion race horse and 1951 3-year-old champion colt today by 19 secretaries representing thorough-bred racing association tracks throughout the country.

In 1945 there were over a billion acres in the United States devoted to farming.

McCarthy Not Interested In State's Primary

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28—(AP)—Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) said today he probably will take no active part in the battle for Wisconsin's delegation to the 1952 Republican presidential nominating convention.

Unless he changes his mind, McCarthy told a reporter, he doesn't even plan to ask to be one of the delegates to the convention.

"I expect I'll have my hands full running for re-election to the Senate and I don't intend to take any part in the presidential nominating race," he said.

The Wisconisn senator declined comment on a statement by Rep. George H. Bender (R-Ohio) that while Senator Taft (R-Ohio) doesn't share McCarthy's views and believes the Wisconsin senator is "too vocal" Taft is "not going to kick him in the teeth."

Taft, an avowed candidate for the Republican nomination, is counting heavily on a victory in the April 1 Wisconsin primary to keep his campaign for delegates rolling at full speed.

Bender said if McCarthy is a delegate, "Taft wants McCarthy's vote."

Previously Taft's associates had said Wisconsin would be the only primary in which his name would be entered outside of Ohio, but recently they have been studying the possibility of trying the waters in New Hampshire. The March 11 New Hampshire contest is the first of the presidential year.

Love Triumphant

By ADELE GARRISON

As Bess Conway finished her amazing revelation, I had a ridiculous desire to imitate Junior and his cousins, and declare in stentorian tones, "Now I've heard everything." But, of course, I curbed the impulse, and, instead, forced my voice to reasonable speech.

"I had only a fleeting glimpse of the man," I told her, smiling, "but, if I were in your age bracket, and had not yet met my husband, I think I should say he would pass the only infallible test I ever have heard for picking men."

"What is that?" she asked, and I saw that she really wished to hear the answer.

"The test is imagining being cast away on a desert island with any man you meet," I answered. "If you can't bear the thought—and if you are a normal woman you react that way to most men—then don't bother with him. But if you like the notion, and feel that you would be safe in his chivalry—as long as you wished to remain 'safe'—then track him down quickly before some other girl feels the same way about him, and sets a snare for him."

She looked at me for a split second as if she couldn't believe her ears. Then her laugh rang out merrily.

"You are unbelievable," she said. "But I'm glad to hear you say that. I feel a little loss goofy (I don't mean that I really was 'head over heels' in love with him, but he did make a strong impression on me, and—when I couldn't find any evidence against him—and couldn't inveigle him into any utterances linking him with anything underhand, I was ridiculously glad to report my failure to your father."

"If you know my father, you'd realize that he did not regard your investigation as a failure," I said. "He is a singularly high-minded man — not like some of our officials, who regard every man they can convict of crookedness, no matter by what underhand means, as another feather in their cap—but a 'just judge,' who is more gratified to prove a man innocent, than to convict him of guilt."

"I know he must be that kind," she said, "for he found no fault with my work, and apparently, let the matter drop. But—I've always been uneasy about the case. I've never been quite sure, and that doubt has haunted me as much as the thing the man said to me just before our final parting. I had told him that I did not love him, could never marry him, and that I did not wish him to hunt for me. He looked at me so strangely and said: 'You do not know your own mind, but I can wait. I will wait for two years, and then I am coming to find you if you are at the ends of the earth.'"

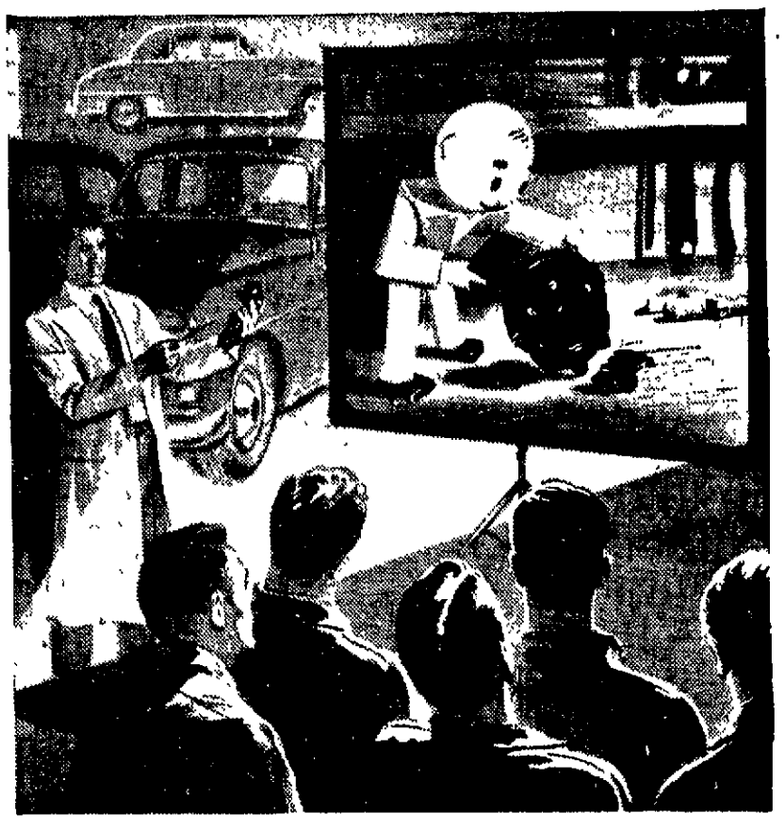
When it comes to SERVICE

PLYMOUTH IS THE CAR WITH MORE DEALERS, MORE TRAINED SERVICE-MEN, THAN ANY OTHER MAKE!



Professor "Tech," film character familiar to Plymouth servicemen, points out the newest and best service procedure. The latest educational aids, along with manuals, demonstrations, and practical "laboratory work" in the shop, are combined in a continuing "postgraduate" course. This unique, specialized training is one of the big reasons why forward-looking servicemen prefer to work for Plymouth dealers.

To many people, the kind of service that's behind a car is important.

Before buying, they wisely ask: "Where can I get service if I need it?"

Plymouth Dealers Are Everywhere

It makes no difference where you live, there's an expertly trained Plymouth serviceman near you. With over 10,500 Plymouth dealers—far more than for any other make of car—you'll find a Plymouth dealer in or near every community in the nation.

70,000 Master Technicians

Plymouth owners have available not only the most, but the best, service. Nearly 70,000 Plymouth servicemen are members of the Master Technicians Service Conference, the largest program of its kind in the world. In operation for more than 4 years, this is a continuing "postgraduate" course in the most accurate, surest ways of diagnosing mechanical difficulties . . . the newest, best service methods.

The Right Service at the Right Time

Plymouth Master Technicians are the kind of servicemen who can diagnose the complaint right off—without costly, time-wasting guesswork and experimenting. Then they work to factory-approved standards, with factory-engineered parts. Result: The job is done properly.

The Plymouth car is built to last—to give you fine and dependable transportation at low cost. But when your Plymouth does need a checkup, minor adjustment, or repair, it's good to know that this fine service is always near you. It's part of the satisfaction, the sense of extra value, that you get when you buy a Plymouth.

Crawford Jury, Recessed Tuesday, Reconvenes Dec. 7

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Nov. 28 — Another recess was declared Tuesday by the Crawford County Grand Jury, which has been probing alleged irregularities at the Crawford County Home since Oct. 1. The jury will reconvene Dec. 7, Prosecutor Leo J. Scanlon announced.

Although no additional indictments were returned by the jury, Prosecutor Scanlon said it was probable that the jury will return some additional indictments before it winds up its session.

Four persons already have been indicted by the jury and innocent pleas are on record in indictments against Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dinkel, deposed home superintendent and matron, County Commissioner Walter Sargel and his brother, Arthur, both of Galion.

Common Pleas Judge C. U. Ahl has set Jan. 15 for the trial of the Sargels and Harold Dinkel, who were indicted jointly on charges of embezzlement and grand larceny in connection with the alleged sale of county home produce to the Crestline Equity while Arthur Sargel was equity manager.

OWU Coach On Program Of Marion Rotary

Assails Colleges That Pay Players On Grid Teams

Glenn Frazier, football coach at Ohio Wesleyan University, was guest speaker at the weekly Rotary Club meeting at Hotel Harding Tuesday.

Highlight of Ohio Wesleyan football games presented in motion pictures featured the program. The pictures included games with Otterbein, Case, Wittenberg, Muskingum, Buffalo, Bowling Green, Oberlin and Denison.

In a talk preceding the motion pictures, Mrs. Frazier said some colleges are using much the same tactics as gamblers, that of paying players. This not only lowers the quality of the game, but reflects unfairly and unfavorably on the players, he said.

Part of the fault, Mr. Frazier declared, lies with coaches who tolerate this dishonesty in sports He said constant public demands for a winning team result in pressure on players and coaches which sometimes cause questionable competitive methods.

Mr. Frazier said close observation of good, clean play rather than the mistakes made in play would increase enjoyment of the game. He voiced the belief that football should be on a more business-like but friendly basis.

The speaker was introduced by George Howser, the club program chairman for the play.

Guests of the club were E. L. Davis, Don J. Yoder, Howard Geer and Walter Moore, all of Marion, and Tom Stanton of Coshocton.

Student reporter from the Harding High School journalism classes was John Gantt.

P-S-S-T! You hear it all over Marion!

Here's why! Important flavor elements escape from coffee in ordinary cans. Even when can is sealed, freshness is lost!

In pressure packed cans positive pressure brings you coffee far fresher—far richer in important flavor elements!

You hear the difference—a louder S-s-s-s of flavor-saving pressure as the can opens! You smell the difference—a richer aroma of fresh, fresh coffee! Finally, you taste that extra-lively, wide-awake flavor and you say, "That's my coffee!" Try it today!

All the flavor your cup can hold!

Fire-Stricken Family Living With Daughter

Boganwrights Get Aid From Friends And Organizations

The family of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Boganwright, whose home south of Marion was destroyed by fire Nov. 7, has been resettled at the home of a daughter nearby.

The Boganwrights lost all their possessions in the blaze, but the Salvation Army, Red Cross, neighbors, relatives and friends have been very helpful in providing assistance, Mrs. Boganwright said.

The home was located on Seitor Rd. near the Miller Airport, off Route 23 about three miles south of Marion. It was owned by Henry Miller of near Marion.

The family is now living at the home of a daughter, Mrs. James Leatham, which is just north of the airport.

Besides Mrs. Leatham, there are three other children, Lawrence, 10, Elsie, 16, and Iva, 14.

Mr. Boganwright is employed at Mr. Miller's John Deere shop in Delaware and Mrs. Boganwright at the Home Restaurant on E. Center St.

DIES AFTER BEATING

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 28—(AP)—Percy Miller, 50, of Columbus died yesterday of head wounds received Friday when he was struck on the head by an unknown assailant. Miller was attacked as he backed his car from the garage.

SEAFOOD, UNLIMITED. Part of a catch of mullet, estimated at 20,000 pounds, one of the largest hauls in the area, is shown as it was unloaded at a fish company's pier at St. Petersburg, Fla. (Notice to anglers: Mullet are strictly vegetarians and will not bother with a hook and line.) Gulf sector fishermen see the catch as an indication that the disastrous effect of the 1947 "red tide" which killed untold millions of fish in the Gulf of Mexico, is beginning to wear off.

Reserve Corps Office Moved To S. Main St.

ORC Is Also Provided With New Armory

The Marion office of the Organized Reserve Corps opened in its new location at 188 S Main St. this morning. It was moved to that location from 116 N. State St.

Captain John Spain, unit instructor here, said the move was completed today and that all reserve operations would be directed from the new office. It is located with the U.S. Army and Air Force Recruiting Station. The unit office had been in its former location for the last two years.

Capt. Spain said the move was made after completion of an ORC armory at the Marion Engineer Depot. Through an agreement made with Col. Rene Quenneville, commander of the Depot, several months ago, the local ORC obtained a building at the Depot to convert into an armory. The new armory has been set up in the former cafeteria at the Depot and is ready for use. All meetings and drill sessions of the four Reserve Corps units operated by the office will be held at the Depot armory.

Memorial Tributes Paid By K. of C.

Marion Council Honors Dead In Annual Program

Tributes were paid to members who have died during the last year in the annual memorial services conducted by Marion Council No. 671, Knights of Columbus, Tuesday night in the council hall. The memorial address was delivered by the Rev. Father Robert Von Kaenel, pastor of St. Mary Church at Piqua, and a member of the local council.

Presiding for the ritual were Francis McDaniel, grand knight; Charles Simonis, deputy grand knight; Robert Murphy, chancellor; George Haron, warden and John Mahoney, recorder.

Rev. Father Von Kaenel, who has been a member of the local council 32 years, spoke on "The Order and Its Dead." A talk also was given by the Very Rev. William J. Spickerman, V. F., pastor of St. Mary Church. Members whose deaths occurred during the year are Charles McDonough, Benjamin Ransome, John Von Kaenel, Maurice O'Connor and Henry Yochem. The eulogy for Mr. McDonough was given by Thomas E. Andrews, Benjamin Ransome by Joseph Dunn, John Von Kaenel by Michael O'Brien, Maurice O'Connor by Floyd Cornely and Henry Yochem by L. A. Axe.

Joe Maloney reported 40 couples attended the party sponsored by the council at Holiday Hill near Delaware, recently, and announced another would be held in the near future. Floyd Cornely reported on the youth program sponsored by the state council. A dance climaxing a youth project Saturday night in Toledo will be attended by a number from the local council.

Next Meeting

Announcement was made of the next meeting Dec. 10 when the Rev. Father Urban Wiggins, assistant pastor of St. Mary Church will speak.

Following the meeting lunch was served. A special prize went to William McAndrew.

MAYBE FERDINAND THE BULL

JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—(UP)—A different kind of thief has been found working this area. A resident reported to police that eight prize camellia plants valued at some $80 were uprooted and stolen from his property.

N.Y. Stock Quotations

NEW YORK, Nov. 28—(UP)—Stocks resumed their rise when they reopened at 11:05 a.m. following New York City's first civil defense drill. Trading was moderate.

Net gains extended to a point with the railroad shares featuring.

The market had opened at the usual time on a steady to firm note. It closed when sirens announced the drill at 10:33 a.m. and remained closed for a period of 32 minutes. Despite the interruption and reopening which resembled a new session, the trading day was regarded as a single session.

Trading picked up for a few minutes after reopening. The accumulation of orders in the closing interim was light, however, as indicated by the absence of large blocks of stock.

Northern Pacific, at 61¼ when the sirens sounded, reopened at 80⅞ up 1.

Allied Chemical held an early rise of ¾ point at 70¼. American Cyanamid rose ½ to 110½. U.S. Steel, Anaconda and American Can held at the previous close.

Bomb

several days ago in a move to get union recognition.

About the time the police department disclosed the finding of the bomb, Mardy Polaner, secretary of the union, said a picket was "shouldered and elbowed" by an unidentified man last night.

He said the picket was Ruth Heed, one of three woman pickets on duty.

Polaner said he was going to ask a meeting with Safety Director Cook about the incident.

Detective Sgts. Leroy Smith and Al Lashly said there was enough nitro starch in the pipe bomb to destroy the lobby of the hotel, and perhaps blow out a wall of the building.

The secretary of the local which called the strike declined to discuss the bomb publicly at this time. But Mardy Polaner said:

"We have promised police 100 per cent cooperation in their investigation and have offered to bring in any or all of our people for investigation."

FLAGG MARRIED 'EM

CHESTER, Vt.—(UP)—Elopements in New Hampshire once were known as "Flagg marriages." That was because Parson Flagg of this border village was ready to hitch any runaway couple that knocked at his door, day or night.

NOTICE OF SALE OF BONDS

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the Clerk of the Village of Caledonia, State of Ohio, until 12 o'clock noon E.S.T. of the 15th day of December, 1951 for the purchase of bonds of the said Village in the aggregate sum of Six Thousand Dollars ($6,000.00) dated the first day of December, 1951. Said bonds will be twelve (12) in number and numbered from one to twelve both inclusive. Each of said bonds will be of the denomination of Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00) and will draw interest at the rate of two and a half (2½) per cent per annum, payable semi-annually on the first days of May and November of each year upon presentation and surrender of the interest coupons to be attached to said bonds. Anyone desiring so to do so may present a bid or bids for said bonds based on their bearing a different rate of interest than that hereinabove specified, provided that where a fractional interest rate is bid such fraction shall be one quarter of one per cent or multiples thereof. Said bonds will be due and payable as follows:

$500.00 on November 1st from 1953 to 1964, inclusive.

Said bonds are issued for the purpose of completing construction of the Municipal Waterworks System for supplying water to the corporation and the inhabitants thereof, and under authority of the laws of Ohio and of The Uniform Bond Act and under and in accordance with a certain ordinance of the said Village entitled "Ordinance providing for the Issuance of Bonds of the Village of Caledonia, Ohio for the purpose of completing construction of the Municipal Waterworks System for supplying water to the corporation and the inhabitants thereof" passed on the 14th day of November, 1951.

Said bonds will be sold to the highest bidder for not less than the face value thereof and accrued interest.

All bids must state the number of bonds bid for and the gross amount of bid and accrued interest to date of delivery. All bids to be accompanied with a bond or certified check, payable to the Village for Sixty Dollars ($60.00) upon condition that if the bid is accepted the bidder will receive and pay for such bonds as may be issued as above set forth, within thirty days from the time of award, said bonds to be forfeited or said check to be retained by the Village if said condition is not fulfilled.

Bids should be sealed and endorsed: "Bids for Construction of Municipal Waterworks Bonds."

The Village of Caledonia reserves the right to reject bids.

How To Arm and Not Go Broke

Big Problem Confronts NATO In Rome Talks

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28—(AP)—Stories from Rome will tell you about the daily doings of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), made up of 12 nations, including the U S, banded together in defense against Russia.

This NATO meeting in Rome is not a special, suddenly called meeting, due to a crisis. Representatives of the 12 nations met in Ottawa in September and agreed to meet in Rome again at this time.

But it is an important meeting. It has brought together the foreign ministers of the 12 nations, including our own Secretary of State Acheson, and their military chiefs, including General Eisenhower

The 12 NATO nations face a double, serious problem in their Rome discussions: how to arm and raise troops as fast as possible and, while they're doing it, how to keep from going broke

Brief Background

This is a brief background on the Rome meeting

In 1947 — when it was plain Western Europe was economically ruined by the war and might fall to the Communists unless helped out of the trap this country set up the Marshall Plan.

This provided economic aid And it worked. By the beginning of 1951, in fact, it seemed to have worked so well that Britain was able to say it didn't need any more Marshall Plan aid.

But meanwhile the Russians were active. By a coup they took over Czechoslovakia in 1948. This scared Britain, France, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg They formed a military alliance.

By themselves they were no match for Russia That was clear Yet, if they fell, Russia would have Europe and we'd be pretty much alone. In 1949 the North Atlantic Treaty was signed

This was NATO, an organization of 12 nations ringing the North Atlantic and with a common interest in defending themselves against communism. They pledged help to one another in case of attack

U.S. Chips In

This didn't mean much unless the 12 members were well enough armed to defend themselves This country chipped in and began sending arms. But it was being done pretty leisurely

The Communists struck again, this time in Korea, in June, 1950 That broke the egg NATO got busy And about a year ago they decided they'd better pool their military strength. Unify it, they said

The European members of NATO agreed they'd like to have General Eisenhower boss the job.

They agreed to provide troops —about 60 divisions by 1954—to serve under him We agreed to send six American divisions to help out.

And while arming NATO had now become a really big job, with the U S providing a big part of the arms, the other NATO members agreed they'd produce a good share of the arms themselves.

But this all happened just about the time they were getting on their feet with Marshall Plan help They had been putting all their energy and money and goods into domestic stuff.

Economics Threatened

Now they had to divert a good bit of it to military production This meant men had to be taken out of civilian production for use as soldiers or for use in arms factories

The net result: less goods for civilians and the economies of the big NATO nations, like Britain and France, put in a tailspin, especially since prices on the world markets for imported goods shot up.

The American Congress voted about $7,500,000,000 for arms and economic aid It may not be enough, for Britain and France particularly are getting into sour shape, economically. Meanwhile, arms production and raising of troops has fallen behind schedule

So the Rome meeting must discuss ways of easing the economic jam while still getting arms and troops.

A Foreign Policy For Americans

By Senator Robert A. Taft

CHAPTER 12

The Battle Against Communist Ideology Throughout the World

THE THREAT of communism against liberty is not by any means a purely military threat—in fact, if we had only to face the military strength of Soviet Russia I think there would not be any such concern as we see today.

Communism is strong because it has developed a fanatical support and missionary ardor, which have spread throughout the world and appealed everywhere to some of those who are dissatisfied with their present condition. It is a threat because it has developed methods of infiltration and propaganda well-fitted to this missionary ardor and has succeeded in building up, even in the most free countries, at least a strong minority of people who form, in effect, a fifth column behind our lines. In France the 1951 elections showed 26 per cent of the voters to be Communists, in Italy more.

SENATOR TAFT

We have to consider the methods by which we can battle against the spread of communism and so weaken its spirit that its missionary ardor is destroyed. I believe that can only be done by a positive campaign in behalf of liberty.

Liberty has always appealed to the minds of men and today is a far more appealing ideal than communism or material welfare can ever be. Even today I believe that a great majority of the people in the iron-curtain countries yearn for liberty against the Communistic dictatorship imposed upon them by a small minority of their own people backed by Soviet troops.

What Liberty Is

And when I say liberty I do not simply mean what is referred to as "free enterprise." I mean liberty of the individual to think his own thoughts and live his own life as he desires to think and to live; the liberty of the family to decide how they wish to live, what they want to eat for breakfast and for dinner, and how they wish to spend their time; liberty of a man to develop his ideas and get other people to teach those ideas, if he can convince them that they have some value to the world; liberty of every local community to decide how its children shall be educated, how its local services shall be run, and who its local leaders shall be; liberty of a man to choose his own occupation; and liberty of a man to run his own business as he thinks it ought to be run, as long as he does not interfere with the right of other people to do the same thing.

After the American Revolution and the French Revolution the whole world became convinced that liberty was the key to progress and happiness for the peoples of the world, and this theory was accepted, even in those countries where there was, in fact, no liberty. People left Europe and came to this country not so much because of the economic conditions as because they sought a liberty which they could not find at home.

But gradually this philosophy has been replaced by the idea that happiness can only be conferred upon the people by the grace of an efficient government. Only the government, it is said, has the expert knowledge neccessary for the people's welfare; only the government has the power to carry out the grandiose plans so necessary in a complicated world.

Must Convince Ourselves

Those who accept the principle of socialism, of government direction, and of government bureaucracy have a hard time battling against the ideology of communism. Our labor union leaders cannot effectively fight communism, as such, because they favor socialist control that comes very close to communism in the actual measures which are to be undertaken. Even our statesmen seem to be handicapped in the same way.

If we can once convince ourselves that we believe in freedom, then there are many things which we can do throughout the world to meet the threat of communism.

1. We can conduct a worldwide propaganda in behalf of liberty. In the Voice of America we have already adopted the general principle of propaganda. We should find those people among the citizens of each nation who agree with our principles and finance them to put on an effective propganda. It is difficult enough for Americans to judge the manner in which propaganda should be spread in this country to obtain the support of the American people.

The whole propaganda question should be much more extensively studied, and it should be definetely moved away from the Department of State. The State Department inevitably is concerned with relations between nations. It does not want to do anything which might antagonize the governments with whom it deals. It wants to do things which, perhaps, will please those governments or to work out some other diplomatic purpose which it has in mind.

The new agency, furthermore, should be an agency made up of men who fully believe in freedom, who concede nothing to the principle of communism, socialism, and government controls, and who believe in the cause which they are trying to promote.

We Can Infiltrate

2. Another method pursued by Soviet Russia is probably justified for us today under all the circumstances, although certainly it is not in accordance with American tradition and is no part of a permanent foreign policy. The Russians have developed a method of infiltration, by which they send secret agents into foreign countries, and these secret agents infiltrate every kind of organization which has some influence on the people of the country.

In this country, in particular, they undertook to get Communists into the leadership of the labor unions, into the publishing and writing fraternity, into Hollywood and the associations of actors, into the teaching profession, and into the Government itself. In these positions they undertook to make Communists if they could, but even more to influence those who were in authority to take a soft attitude toward communism.

This suggests, of course, that we could do the same thing, particularly in the iron-curtain satellite countries. There are many exiles from these countries who would be glad to go back.

In many of the countries there is already an active underground, agitating every minute against Soviet domination. While it may be a dangerous undertaking, I believe that an able and courageous leader could successfully work out a sysem which would give the Soviet Government something to worry about behind the iron curtain itself.

At Small Cost

I believe a comparatively small amount of money, if well spent, could succeed in substantially building up a love for freedom in Soviet-dominated territory, which would have a most chilling effect on any Soviet idea of military invasion of Europe and might lead to the ejection of communist control in some of these governments.

3. In the same general field, it seems obvious that everywhere throughout the world we should encourage and build up those forces in friendly countries or neutral countries which believe in liberty and are prepared to battle against communism. In Japan, in the Philippines, and in Indonesia we should be assisting and promoting those who believe in real liberty and who oppose communism.

This course may lead us, in some parts of the world, toward an advocacy of the liberty of various cntries which are now colonies of European nations. There is hardly a case, however, in which such liberty could not be worked out, as we worked it out in the Philippine Islands.

Reds In Government

4. Finally, if we are going to conduct a real battle against the communist ideology throughout the world we should definitely eliminate from the government all those who are directly or indirectly connected with the Communist organization.

The American people are certainly entitled to know who it is who have been Communists and how the Communist organization is operated throughout the United States. If we are going to spend billions in battling communism in the world it seems ridiculous that we should permit secret Communist propaganda to proceed here, when we have the means of bringing it before the people.

Certainly in this country it is not consistent with freedom to put a man in jail merely because he is a Communist. On the other hand, I have never seen any violation of constitutional rights in bringing to the people's attention the fact of a man's connection with an organization and a propaganda which is clearly treasonable against the people of the United States.

Won in the Mind

In short, a war against communism in the world must finally be won in the minds of men. The hope for ultimate peace lies far more in the full exploitation of the methods I have suggested than in a third world war, which may destroy civilization itself. Far from establishing liberty throughout the world, war has actually encouraged and built up the development of dictatorships and has only restored liberty in limited areas at the cost of untold hardship, of human suffering, of death and destruction beyond the conception of our fathers. We may be able to achieve real peace in the world without passing through the fire of a third world war if we have wise leadership.

Communism can be defeated by an affirmative philosophy of individual liberty, and by an even more sincere belief in liberty than the communists have in communism.

In the United States we see the product of liberty to be the greatest and most powerful nation the world has ever seen, with the happiest people. If we rise to the power of our strength, there has never been a stronger case to present to the world, or a better opportunity to dissolve its darkness into a light.

Cost of Living Hangs in Balance

Public Has Big Stake In Steel Wage Talks

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK, Nov. 28—(AP)—The cost of living may be the unseen third party at the debate in Pittsburgh over steel wages.

The seventh round of wage hikes since World War II ended is the first item on the agenda. But what that will do to the cost of living—already at record high—is the public's stake in the negotiations.

Labor says that the rise in the cost of living since the last pay contract justifies at least a 12-cent an hour boost in wages for steel workers. Under the Wage Stabilization Board's present rules only a five-cent hike is permissable. And some believe that the union will ask for wage hikes and fringe benefits totalling from 20 to 25 cents an hour.

If granted, such increases would shatter the present wage ceilings, and give the chance for a general seventh round of wage increases throughout many industries.

THE STEEL COMPANIES contend they cannot raise wages without raising prices on steel products. Those products are part of the basic costs in countless items you buy an din maintaining the services you use. Other industries, if they go along with a seventh round, are certain to make the same claims for the right to raise prices.

The union and some government officials contend that steel company profits are high enough for the industry to absorb as much as 15-cents an hour wage boosts without raising prices.

But the steel industry says that so far this year their earnings have shrunk by about 20 per cent, compared to 1950's boom-time profits.

And price director DiSalle tells a congressional committee that he may have to raise price ceilings on some unnamed products to allow for wage raises as approved by the Wage Stabilizaztion Board.

The steel industry is in much better position than the soft goods industries to raise prices without losing customers. In spite of warnings that there may be too much steel making capacity in another year or two, the shortage of many types of steel continues acute. And the mills continue to expand.

THE STEEL INDUSTRY is operating at a record rate, turning out more steel than ever before without being able to satisfy every one who wants it. More is promised for schools, highways and hospitals next year, but meantime many projects are being held up.

The British would like a million tons of American steel to help them through their present pinch. To give it to them would mean cutting back further on production of some consumer items in this country.

In spite of slow sales in some consumer items using steel, the great industrial expansion program and the rearmament program which hasn't yet reached its full stride appears to assure the steel industry of near capacity operation far into next year.

The steel industry itself is expanding and by the end of next year will be turning out from 15 to 20 per cent more steel than it did at the end of World War II.

By then it may have caught up with demand. And price raises then wouldn't be as easy as they will be now if they are made part of the bargain struck between the union and the companies and approved by the government.

SO THAT THE QUESTION the public will be interested in at the steel wage negotiations in Pittsburgh will be not so much whether the companies can pay higher wages as it will be how much higher the government will allow the price of steel to rise. And if the price of steel goes up, how much of that cost can its users pass on in higher prices on autos and refrigerators and freight cars?

While soft goods wobble in price, the outlook is that goods made of metal are likely to go even higher.

Bucyrus Couple Wed 50 Years

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS—Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Brinkman, lifelong Crawford County residents, observed their golden wedding anniversary at their home Sunday with an open house.

Mr. Brinkman and the former Toinette Wingart were married Nov. 17, 1901, in First Methodist Church here by Rev. M. J. Keys. They lived on a farm north of Bucyrus until 10 years ago when they retired and moved to Bucyrus.

The Brinkmans have three sons, James of Los Angeles, Calif., John of Willowick, and Ross of Bucyrus; a daughter, Mrs. R. C. Staton of Bucyrus, and seven grandchildren.

Preceding the open house, a family dinner was served at the Ross Brinkman home.

HOSTESS TO CIRCLE

Mrs. Hazel Schiller of near Meeker was hostess to Harmony Circle, past councilors of Paramount Council, Daughters of America, Monday night. Mrs. Essie Thompson and Mrs. Helen McGowan were assisting hostesses. Announcement was made that the district past councilors will meet at Bloomville, Saturday, Dec. 1, for a Christmas meeting. Prizes in contests were awarded to Mrs. Dessie Carpenter and Mrs. Ethel Richards. The Circle will next meet Dec. 17 at Hotel Marion for a Christmas dinner.

One Fight We Didn't Need

AMERICANS who have thought through the meaning of the first amendment to the Constitution will understand where the issue lies between Maj. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby and the newspapermen and magazine writers he has castigated for their reporting of the war in Korea.

The Willoughby castigation as published in Cosmopolitan Magazine is subscribed to by Gen. MacArthur in a vigorous foreword. Gen. MacArthur speaks "one of the most scandalous propaganda efforts to pervert the truth in recent times."

These are fighting words. They impugn the motives of correspondents and writers who will not relish being tagged as propagandists. Willoughby, himself, speaks of reporters "dwelling perversely on the statistics of death . . . with the panting eagerness of a sidewalk huckster and the unctuous concern of an undertaker." It is obvious these men were very angry. They are going to make many other men just as angry with the bitter harangue prepared for Cosmopolitan.

There is no question of their right to disagree with the writers and the publications mentioned. There is no question, as far as that is concerned, on their right to be sarcastic and bitter. The question—the issue—is whether or not Gen. MacArthur and his former chief of intelligence should question the patriotism of other Americans who have a difference of opinion with them about the Korean War. That is a veiled threat to freedom under the first amendment.

This is one fight we didn't need at this time in the United States—a fight which can have only the effect of adding to the growing total of bitterness between Americans who, failing to agree, accuse their fellow citizens of sinister and unpatriotic motives.

Well Qualified for Sacrifice

ROGER LOWELL PUTNAM, new chief of the Office of Economic Stabilization, is well qualified for the sacrifice he is about to make for his country.

By family background and personal service, his patriotism is so well established that no one can honestly charge him with treasonable intent when he says something disagreeable.

He cannot be accused of going after the salary, because he is giving up more money than the government can afford to pay him. Nor can he be accused of gunning for political position, because politics is out of his line.

No one can whisper that he is trying to climb aboard a bandwagon, because his predecessor Eric A. Johnston left the job under circumstances which made it perfectly clear he was full of a sense of futility.

Nor can it be alleged by his bitterest critics, who shortly will make themselves known, that he has snapped up a sinecure. As it happened, on the very day his name was being published across the land, the news also was being published that Philip Murray was looking for ways to break wage stabilization into little pieces so his million-man steel union could earn the gratitude of its dues-payers.

Mr. Putnam knows all those things. He makes jokes about them. He hopes he can keep his sense of humor, like Mike DiSalle, who soon will quit trying to keep rising prices from rising. All Mr. Putnam is supposed to do is stabilize an unstabilized economy.

America's Voluntary Ban

A REVIVAL of hope in Paris for disarmament through a four-power arms parley will be squelched if the Soviet Union insists on outlawing atomic weapons.

The United States could not accept that proviso under the circumstances—and it is of the greatest urgency that all members of the General Assembly understand the circumstances.

Chief among them is the circumstance that this country's possession of atomic weapons is the only real military protection against a world-wide offensive by the Communist conspiracy.

Almost equal in importance is the circumstance that the United States would not trust the word of the present government of Russia in an arrangement of that kind.

But perhaps the most powerful circumstance is one usually not mentioned in the United Nations at all—the circumstance that the United States has placed a voluntary ban on aggressive war. This country would not fight unless attacked. It wants no territory. It never has used war as an instrument of national policy. Under these circumstances, for it to be classified with a country which attacked Finland, made a non-aggression pact with Hitler's Germany and now is financing a war in Korea is to insult the American people.

They would not let their congress subscribe to any plan to do away with atomic weapons until given absolute proof that these weapons had been given up by the Soviet Union. That proof cannot be provided—under existing circumstances.

Taft and Tydings

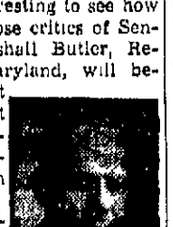
By David Lawrence

A Study of Composite Photos in Campaigns

WASHINGTON

SENATOR TAFT certainly has put into the record a graphic story of "composite photographs" and scurrilous literature used against him in his 1950 campaign in Ohio. The tactics appear to be far worse than anything complained of by Senator Tydings in his last year's campaign in Maryland.

It will be interesting to see how indignant all those critics of Senator John Marshall Butler, Republican of Maryland, will become now that they see what kind of campaign the Democrats waged in Ohio.



LAWRENCE

President Truman in a political speech last week alluded to the Maryland campaign, blaming the alleged misrepresentations by the Republicans. While he mentioned the large sums spent in the 1950 campaign in Ohio, he didn't refer to all the malicious statements made about Senator Taft by the labor union campaigners. Nor did he explain why his Department of Justice failed to prosecute violations of the federal law which forbid political contributions by labor unions or corporations.

Senator Taft, in his lengthy testimony before the Senate subcommittee on elections, made some recommendations for changes in existing law, but he didn't point out how the party in power can be persuaded to prosecute its own supporters who, in the midst of campaigns, happen to violate laws now on the statute books.

AS A MATTER OF FACT, Senator Taft's recommendations for possible changes in the law are for the most part neither realistic nor practicable. His first point that the federal laws be impartially enforced is a good one, especially the recommendation that, if the attorney general refuses to act, some other method of direct action be permitted. But when the Ohio senator proposes that "it might be possible to require the filing of all literature dealing with the election of national officers with some official in Washington before such literature is circulated," he introduces by implication the question of censorship, though he specifically disavows any such intention.

What good would the filing of the literature and the statement as to the number printed and the sponsoring organization do if the literature were scurrilous or in other respects objectionable to one or the other of the candidates involved? Would it merely be filed? How could this be done without depriving both sides of valuable time, especially in the last 10 days of a campaign?

WHEN MR. TAFT says some law might be passed "punishing direct misstatements of fact in a campaign," he concedes that the "shading between fact and opinion is often very close." But it will be contended in rebuttal that the existing state laws of slander and libel are adequate protection. Anything else treads closely on the border of suppression of free speech and a free press.

The so-called "composite photograph" which was used in Maryland against Senator Tydings and in Ohio against Senator Taft is a despicable device but it is not a violation of federal laws. It might be actionable under state laws. Many cartoons are despicable. So are many published articles issued by the press itself, but the constitutional safeguard protects extreme statements. This is because it is felt that public opinion can deal effectively with such practices. Indeed, extreme attacks often have boomeranged and elected the candidate attacked. The assumption, widely made by some critics, that the electorate must be protected against a supposed lack of intelligence, is reminiscent of the totalitarian concept that the people can not be trusted with Democratic processes.

NO ELECTION campaign is perfect and many a contest has in it elements that are to be deplored, but in the long run the people know how to deal with exaggerations and falsehoods because the power to refute and deny them is not lost to the opposing candidate. It insults the intelligence of the people of the great state of Maryland to say that they voted out Senator Tydings because of a "composite photograph" which depicted him as shaking hands with Earl Browder of the Communist party. In Ohio, Senator Taft was the victim of a somewhat similar "composite," and it didn't prevent his victory. Senator Tydings lost because of a split in his party and for the usual reasons that occur in American election campaigns. On the day after election when Senator Tydings gave his analysis of the defeat, he did not include any reference to "composite photographs" or scurrilous literature but appraised the political trends in Maryland quite objectively.

The problem of regulating the quality of congressional campaigns is not one for the federal statutes but for greater publicity and debate. The Senate's investigating committee is putting the spotlight on the recent campaigns, and that is all to the good provided the acts of both parties are thoroughly and impartially investigated.

Imagination

By TRUMAN TWILL

THIS FELLOW was ticking off places where he thought money might be sticking to the wrong fingers. It was a story that had been told so many times it held no surprises. It never does.

Every conceivable way to cheat has been thought through a zillion times by people who would take money from the collection plates in church—if they thought they could get away with it.

There is no angle of dishonesty which has not been spotted and surveyed by the Internation Society of Would-Be Pilferers, world's largest unofficial organization of kindred souls.

If people who make the fateful decision to take what does not belong to them only knew what they were suspected of doing by characters who only dream up schemes of dishonesty, they would have to hire trucks to haul away the loot.

When it comes to plots to mulct unsuspecting suckers, the birds who lack the nerve to steal a melon are enthusiastically capable of thinking up a way to cut the zippers out of shrouds and takes off casket handles for a bonus.

It never occurs to them as they drool over the prospects of cornering a fast buck—if they happened to be in the right spot—that they are revealing what they might be expected to do if they ever got into the right spot.

Their plottings and schemings might be mirrors held up to their own morals, or lack of morals. What they imagine someone else must be capable of doing is only what they would do if they ever had the chance.

They would squeeze everything to the last drop. They would cadge everything which was not bolted down, and what was bolted down they would pry loose unless it had been set in concrete.

No one would be safe from their depredations. They would go on a rampage of looting and pillage which would make Genghis Kahn seem like an itinerant YMCA secretary traveling abroad on a scholarship.

They would rig the scores of all athletic contests and demand that their palms be crossed with silver before given the time of day to a down-and-outer. They would out-hitler Hitler and out-muss the master of them all, Mussolini.

That is, they would do this if you could believe what they say. But the same imagination that suggests so many opportunities for being crooked also keeps them honest, because it suggests at the same time the opportunities for getting caught.

The crooks they criticize for lacking imagination are crooks for that very reason — lack of imagination. They think they are going to get away with it because they lack ability to understand what might keep them from getting away with it.

This fellow ticking off the places where he could pick up some money that didn't belong to him, if he happened to be there, would be the most trustworthy person imaginable — if he ever got there. His imagination wouldn't let him be anything else.

Marion County History Brevities

By EDNA S. DUTTON

More than 200 men from Marion County served with the 64th Regiment, Ohio Volunteer Infantry, which was recruited at Mansfield, Nov. 9, 1861. They were for the most part in Companies B and D. The regiment saw hard service at Stone River, Rocky Face Ridge, Spring Hill and Chickamauga. It also took part in Sherman's March to the Sea.

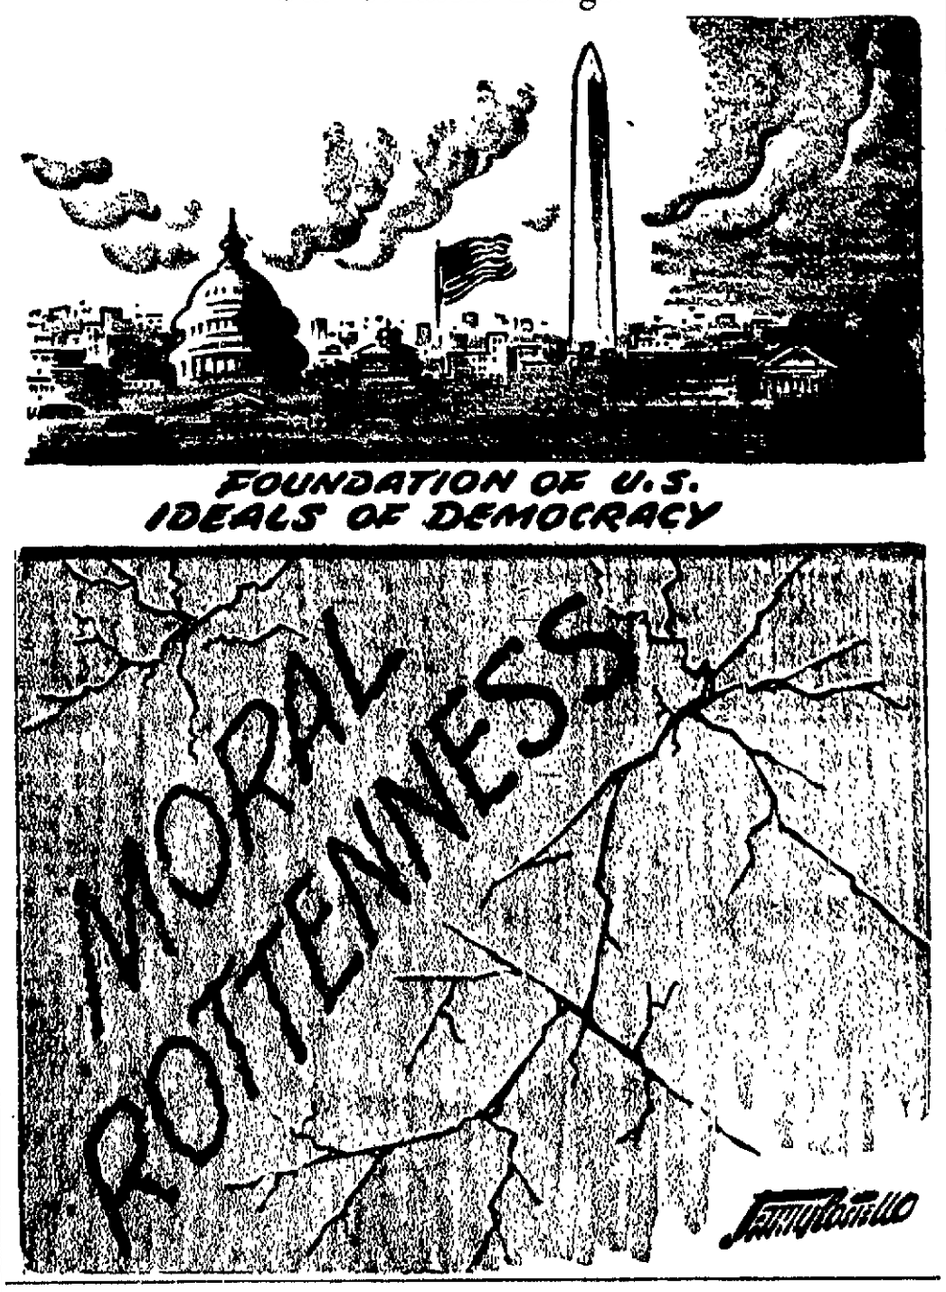
Our Greatest Danger



Politics and Amusements

By George E. Sokolsky

POLITICS AND Amusements . .

WHEN a conservative commentator comes on the radio, he discovers that it is very difficult to get commercial sponsorship. Usually the advertising agencies take the position that such a commentator is "controversial." A liberal or New Deal commentator is not controversial because he is orthodox.

Fulton Lewis Jr., the most successful of conservative commentators, could write a valuable and learned sociological study of his troubles. Few conservative commentators remain on the air, because they cannot afford to work unsponsored. Even among those who can afford to continue, the time allotted to non-commercial broadcasting is such as to keep the audiences comparatively small.

SOKOLSKY

The principle is that there are just as many Democrats as Republicans, that liberals, fellow-travelers and Communists can make a big noise and that therefore it is wisest to avoid "controversy" for soap, face powder, or breakfast food, which are in themselves non-controversial.

This same principle is now being applied to many who have of their own choice, preferred to be Communists or to join left-wing organizations or to indicate a preference for Soviet Russia. No one questions an American's right to do all these things.

But no one can question my right to refuse to listen to a program on which such a person appears, or to buy some other soap or to eat another breakfast food. That makes it all very controversial and the rule which advertising agencies have applied to conservative commentators is applicable to these actors, singers and directors who have been flying high with Stalinist associations.

THE ADVERTISING agencies argue that they have to keep their clients out of trouble and that today they encounter troublemakers on the right as they used to encounter them on the left. For instance, the American Legion Magazine for December, 1951, publishes an article, "Did the Movies Really Clean House?", by Dr. J. B. Matthews, America's greatest authority on indigenous Communist activity in this country since 1934.

The motion picture industry tried to keep this article from being published. Radio and television are embarrassed because the names mentioned as Hollywood stars are also radio and television stars. To the advertising agencies, this article will be a headache for a long time. Nobody can gainsay its accuracy.

Elmer Rice, the playwright, has entered this controversy, stating: "I don't care what the actor's political beliefs are, as long as he fits the part for which he is cast. Why, I'd even be willing to use Paul Robeson if there was a place for him on the show."

That is Mr. Rice's point of view, and he has many followers. But my point of view is that communism is not politics but a vast international conspiracy designed to ruin and conquer my country and I want to fight it not only where I know it exists but where I suspect it exists.

RICE HAS HIS CHOICE and I have my choice. I buy tickets for the theater and the movies. I listen to the radio and television; and in this country, I have freedom of choice. Simply stated, I do not choose to participate, by listening, looking, or paying my money, in the popularity and profit of those whom I know or suspect of preferring Soviet Russia to the United States, of preferring Marxism in any form to

'Shakespeare's Pipe' on Market

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON

A MAN recently offered the Folger Library here a clay pipe for a sum that he said would be used to educate his children. He said the pipe is supposed to have been dug up in the foundations of the Mermaid Tavern and he thought Shakespeare might have smoked it.

The pipe is only one of the many strange items which people want the library to buy and Dr. Lewis B. Wright, the director, says that while he's always eager to obtain significant books on 16th and 17th Century Life and Shakespeare, the institution can't become a catch-all for curiosities.

The wealth of Henry Clay Folger, a Standard Oil magnate and scholar, has made possible this most comprehensive assembly of Shakespeare material in the world. The library also houses the largest collection of English Renaissance literature outside of the British Museum. It has a miniature Elizabethan theater, and the largest collection of Shakespeare busts under one roof.

"But for years," Dr. Wright told me, "it has been an article of faith in some quarters that the Folger would buy anything, literally anything, if it could be connected with Shakespeare, even remotely.

"We do try to procure every significant book about Shakespeare, but a research institution cannot afford to indulge in sentimental whims, and we are not concerned with mere curiosities, especially those of no value, or dubious authenticity."

Sometimes, Dr. Wright said, the library would willingly part with a few things it already possesses. For example, he says, the attic contains several portraits of actors and actresses which formerly hung in theater lobbies and are too big to hang anywhere on the library premises.

"They are just about right for a Texas oil millionaire's mansion, and we shall be receptive to a good offer," Dr. Wright said.

Dr. Wirght pointed out that during th epast year alone, the library bought more than 4,500 titles printed before 1700.

"Some of our purchases were costly and precious, the kind of works one might let lie on a velvet cushion for the admiration of booklovers," he said, "but we are less interested in books lying in state than in their being used by imaginative scholars who come here to interpret the past from the materials we are gathering for posterity."

Why Video Fans Go Mad

The National Federation of Exasperated Football Video Fans, sponsored by this department, announces through Elmer Twitchell, recording secretary, three cheers for the University of Pennsylvania, Harold Stassen, its president, F. T. Murray, its athletic director, and anybody else joining in their demand that the Two-To-A-Customer, Pre-sliced, Short-Order football telecasting program of 1951 be scrapped and a return made to the days when a video owner didn't have to take a packaged telecast or else. All through the football season the television fan has been driven quite mad as he strove to get a big game within two or three hundred miles of his own home and had to settle for one that might as well have been in Lhasa or New Delhi.

PHILLIPS

The New England fan, raised to think of Yale, Harvard and Princeton as important in football history and tradition, tuned in on almost all of their contests to discover the pre-packaged video program would let him see only some game between Whistlestop University and Kalamazoo. The Whistlestop and Kalamazoo football fans got a Harvard-Princeton game. Probably South Bend had to settle for a Columbia football battle, while Columbus addicts were restricted to video flashes of a game in San Francisco.

It was all done by mirrors and the National Collegiate Athletic Association, which, anxious to guard the gate receipts, took over video, carved the country into zones and limited the nation to football programs "so round, so firm, so fully packed" that the millions of fans accustomed to fireside Saturday afternoon football, settled for "How To Cook a Goose" or a video Western. (Mr. Twitchell insists that he tried for a Western but got an Eastern. He is afraid that if this zonal idea isn't checked he may tune in for a Miami Bathing Beauty parade this winter and be obliged to take a Canadian bobsled event.)

Our fears are even greater. We have a horror of a 1952 television control under which a Republican anxious to follow Taft or Eisenhower in an Indiana campaign will have to accept Truman or Vinson in Massachusetts.

* * *

The idea might even spread to baseball. Who will take it peacefully when he tries for a Dodger-Giant game and is told "Wrong zone. You'll take Bridgeport versus Chillicothe"?

TEN YEARS AGO—It was Friday, Nov. 28, 1941.

Britain's desert armies appeared to have gained a definite edge in the 11-day-old battle of North Africa as imperial mechanized legions broadened the vital corridor to Tobruk—presumably wiping out Axis pockets of resistance—and surged on westward from the bloody Rezegn fighting zone south of Tobruk.

In a ceremony in Common Pleas Court, 15 Marion County residents became naturalized citizens of the United States.

Returns for the first week of the annual Christmas seal sale sponsored by the Marion County Anti-Tuberculosis League totaled $586.95. Goal for the year was $4,750.

Pledges, families and friends of members of Zeta Theta Chapter, Alpha Iota Sorority, were guests when the chapter held its first public installation of officers at Forest Glen cathedral home. Miss Josephine Yagodic was installed as president, with Miss Martha Ward in charge.

A family party, final event of the centennial year of Marion Lodge No. 70, F. and A. M., drew more than 500 men, women and young people to Masonic Temple. Harold J. Grigsby, worshipful master, greeted the crowd.

TWENTY YEARS AGO—It was Saturday, Nov. 28, 1931.

It was announced that the mysterious disappearance of Jonathan Russell, former Marion County farmer, in Illinois 64 years ago had just been solved by the revelations of an eyewitness to his murder by three men. The murder was never solved nor was Russell's body ever found until the man who saw the crime committed told authorities where it was buried. The eyewitness story was told by George A. Pfeiffer, 71, of Pana, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Z. B. Houghton Jr. of Delaware Ave., gave a reception at their home in honor of the former's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Z. B. Houghton, who were celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary.

Brass Ensemble Gives Program

Otterbein Group Plays For Marion Club

A program of instrumental music by the Otterbein Brass Ensemble of Otterbein College, directed by Betty Semple Glover, and vocal numbers by John Haberman of Columbus, tenor, was given for the pleasure of Lecture-Recital Club patronesses and members Monday night. It was the second of two arranged for the fall and was presented in the Hotel Harding ballroom.

Numbers of both old master and contemporary composers were presented in a varied repertoire which gave the audience in balanced contrast a high quality of the traditional and the modern in musical works. The ensemble chose for an encore selection a sonata which originated as early as 1684 from the instruments of strolling minstrels.

Mrs Lloyd E. Lutz, Lecture-Recital Club president, greeted the guests and announced the club's next musical event, the Christmas vesper musicale by the Lecture-Recital Chorus, Dec. 9 at First Presbyterian Church.

First group by the ensemble included "Overture to Berenice," Handel, three hymns, "Surgentem cum Victoria," "O Curx Ave, and "Gloria Tibi Domine," Palestrina, "Sarabande and Minuet" and "Allegro" from "Eine Kleine Nachtmusik," Mozart, and "Toccata," Bonelli.

Mr. Haberman sang "The Bitterness of Love," Dunn, "Wild Geese," Koepke, "Wings of the Morning," Gaines, "Homing," DelRiego, and "High Flight," Sacco He was accompanied by Miss Rosaline Manzo.

Final group was by the ensemble, "Prelude," Osborne, four dances, "Ronde," "Saltarelle," "Pavane," and "Gaillarde,' Susato, "Romance," Tschaikowsky, and "Seven Conversation Pieces,' King.

U.S. Steel, Union Build Their Cases

PITTSBURGH, Nov 28—(AP) —The CIO United Steelworkers, building up their case for a sixth pay increase since World War II, piled more contract demands on the table today in continuing negotiations with the giant United States Steel Corporation.

Big negotiating teams of more than 40 men each gathered for the second day for bargaining which is likely to have important effects on the nation's economy

At the end of the first five-hour meeting, Vice President John A Stephens, of "Big Steel" issued a joint statement for himself and President Philip Murray of the million-member union

"We devoted the day to consideration of the program presented by the union," Stephens said He predicted the presentation would require at least three days

Stephens also told an impromptu news conference that both sides have agreed to drop a curtain of comparative silence around negotiations in the belief that this would improve harmony behind the closed doors

Murray hasn't said what kind of wage boosts he wants for steel workers now earning an hourly average of $1 97 He merely asks for a substantial wage increase and says its amount is negotiable.

Velvet Monopolizes Winter Style Trend In Paris Fashions

BY NORA MARTIN

PARIS Nov. 27—(INS)—It's like walking on velvet in Paris this year!

Everywhere you stroll, there's silk, cotton or rayon velvet—in fashions for all hours, all occasions

Velvet scarves and gloves in matching tints make costume ensembles to be worn with tailored tweed suits or hairy wool coats.

Velvet blouses, with hand-knitted collars and cuffs, are for lounging and loafing in the country

Balmain uses black vevet in combination with tartan plaid wool for casual dresses, while designer Balenciaga has a velvet coat for casual street wear

Velvet is dressy too Castillo creates a blue velvet coat with balloon sleeves to be worn over a blue lace sheath for cocktail hours Jacques Fath designs black velvet dresses for dinner, and Dior comes up with a straight red velvet-frock for the theatre

The evening picture is often velvet-touched. At night, green or red gowns are touched up with rhinestones or sequins Black velvet gowns are trimmed with lace or mink And pastel plushes appear with bunches of flowers

Even accessories go the velvet path

Umbrella handles, handbags, belts, collars and buttons have been designed in velvet to match dresses and coats

Taft In Tour Of Carolina

Makes Speeches To College Groups

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Nov 28 —(AP)—Sen Robert A. Taft was to speak at three North Carolina colleges today before returning here to the University of North Carolina where he will deliver the second in a series of citizenship lectures tonight

Taft opened the second day of his three-day tour of North Carolina by addressing students at Wake Forest College A news conference at Durham, a noon talk to the student body of North Carolina (Negro) College at Durham, and a mid-afternoon speech at Duke University will round out the Republican presidential aspirant's itinerary

The Ohioan lashed out against corruption in government yesterday as he began his tour in Asheville Taft charged that the Truman administration condones corruption in government and declared "there's just one way to clean up the mess and that's to change the whole administration"

Although auroras or "northern lights," sometimes give the illusion of touching the ground, none has been measured at a height of less than 35 miles above the earth's surface.

Veterans and Draftees Guide

—By—
Major Thomas M. Nial

LAST summer's Universal Military Training and Service (UMTS) Act drew the outline for UMT and left it to a five-man commission to fill in the details.

The National Security Training Commission announced its recommendations Oct. 28 and Congress will act on them when it returns. If they're adopted without change, here's what UMT will look like.

1. Every man turning 18 will register at his draft board and be classified immediately. The only occupational deferments will be for seasonal farm work, the only dependency deferments for extreme hardship. High school students will be deferred until they graduate, turn 20 or leave school whichever happens first. College students will be deferred only until the end of their current year.

2 Roughly every fourth 18-year-old will be rejected for training for physical and mental reasons

3. The registrant will be able to state a preference for both the service he wants and the month he wants to begin his six-months' training. Whether his preferences are met depends on each service's quota. The Army will train half the trainees, the Navy 23 per cent, the Air Force 22 per cent and the Marine Corps about 5 per cent

4 The trainee will wear the uniform of the service training him with special insignia, but he will not be considered a member of the armed forces. He'll have a new and different military status as a member of the National Security Training Corps.

5. His pay in the Corps will be only $30 a month, plus allowances for dependents Other benefits will include medical and dental care, certain reemployment right and protection against certain suits and foreclosures under the Soldiers and Sailors Civil Relief Act. Also, he'll be covered for $10,000 free GI insurance until 120 days after he's separated from the Corps. If he's disabled while training, or dies after that 120 day period from service connected causes, he or his dependents will draw the benefits of the Federal Employees Compensation Act. Generally its benefits are less than the death and disability benefits the VA administers for servicemen and veterans.

6 Like a serviceman, the UMT trainee will be under the Uniform Code of Military Justice except that if accused of a major crime he may refuse trial by a general court martial and accept trial in a federal court. Also, commanding officers, courts martial and those who review court sentences will be required to give weight to the youth and inexperience of the trainee

7. The training itself will be entirely military, not much different from that each service now gives its recruits. The trainee slated for a technical specialty can be given only the groundwork in his field. He'll be expected to build on that when he's separated into the reserves.

When he finishes six months training, a UMT-er will have 7½ years reserve obligation left He may serve out all or part of it by going into one of the following programs direct from UMT a An appointment (if he qualifies) to West Point, Annapolis or the Coast Guard academy.

b. Some other officer training program, like OCS or college ROTC.

c. The U. S Merchant Marine Academy or an approved state maritime academy, if he agrees to accept a reserve commission.

d. Active duty as a reservist to complete a technical course, or as a regular career serviceman.

e. Drill and training in an organized reserve or National Guard unit near home

Most trainees probably will choose this last course. Those who do probably will be able to cut down their liability for recall during a limited emergency to three years Those who do not, but just remain inactive in the reserves, will be liable for recall during the rest of their 7½ years.

PRIESTS TELL OF UKRAINE ESCAPE. Two Ukrainian priests, hooded to hide identity for fear of reprisal against friends and relatives, tell reporters in New York of their escape from death while practicing their faith in the Russian Ukraine Their stories were interpreted for reporters by Edward Orinkowitz, press director of Ukrainian Catholic Youth league.

Death Strikes Twice And Ends Trial

BUFFALO, N Y. —(UP)—The The case of Jesse Ruffin came up in city court

Riffin, charged with disorderly conduct, was unable to answer the call He had died 10 days before.

The defendant's attorney was unable to answer either. He died the same day as his client.

The case was dismissed.

Union Co. Women See Gift Exhibit

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE — Hundreds of women from all towns and rural areas of Union County met in the Congregational Church Nov 21 for the annual Home Demonstration Council all-day session on Christmast gifts.

The program included exhibits of home-made gifts ranging from toys to cookies. There were Christmas dinner table settings demonstrated, and advice given on fire and other safety hazards of the Yuletide. Gift wrapping hints were also on the program.

Burglar's Big Shoes Trap Him Again

ARAPAHO, Okla. —(UP)— A six-foot, six-inch man has landed in jail for a second time on a burglary charge here, once again because of his size 12 shoes

Glenn Curtis, just out of the penitentiary after serving a sentence for the first burglary was arrested again when Sheriff Albert Gorshing recognized his oversized footprint in the mud outside a burglarized lumber yard.
